

Brand Identity Guidelines

LOGOS, WORDMARKS AND CUSTOM MARKS

Our logo represents who we are, and our tagline encapsulates what we stand for. When combined, they signify exactly what makes us so unique. Because they are an important symbol of our identity, it is imperative that we use them consistently.

MARQUETTE

BE THE DIFFERENCE.

Nomenclature

MARQUETTE UNIVERSITY

Use this designation when referring to the university for the first time.

MARQUETTE

Use this informal designation after having formally acknowledged “Marquette University.” One should, however, keep in mind the tone and formality of the material in which it appears. If the material is very formal, it may be better to use the full name of the university. Marquette can be the first reference or can stand alone in some usages, such as in social media, admissions recruitment materials, T-shirts and other.

MU

Do not use the abbreviation “MU” in external publications. The MU athletics monogram is trademarked and was developed explicitly for use by our athletics programs. (See athletic monogram)

The abbreviation “MU” is also used in social media avatars.

Logo and Tagline

The Marquette logo is the most important and recognizable element of our brand's identity. It is a graphic symbol that represents Marquette to the outside world and acts as an identifying and unifying mark. The logo is comprised of two main elements: the Marquette Hall Tower symbol and the university logotype. Using the Marquette logo in a consistent manner is vital to communicating Marquette's identity.

LOGO STRUCTURE

The Marquette University logo is comprised of the words Marquette University, set in all uppercase letters in a modified Adobe ITC Berkeley Oldstyle, typeface with a graphic representation of the Marquette Hall tower. Linking the university's name to one of the institution's oldest and most recognizable landmarks helps the logo uniquely and distinctively represent the university.

TAGLINE

The tagline, in a simple way, Marquette's educational promise to form men and women for others, to help students and the Marquette community become leaders who will make important contributions and Be The Difference in their communities. The Marquette logo with the tagline should be used prominently on all promotional materials, including publications, advertising and electronic media.

Logo variations

There are three variations of the Marquette University logo: centered, horizontal and vertical. Using these variations consistently ensures that we build and protect the equity and recognition of our brand.

The centered (primary logo) is the preferred mark for use on all communications. When appropriate and dependent on space, the horizontal and vertical logos are also acceptable.

PLACEMENT

To maintain a flexible consistency in appearance, the logo should either be left aligned at the top of the page as an intro or right aligned at the bottom of the page as a sign-off.

Placement of the logo on promotional materials is flexible based on the design and the relationship to artwork, text and images.

GUIDELINES FOR USE

- Using the Marquette logo in a consistent manner is vital to communicating the university's brand.
- The Marquette logo is the official university signature. As such, the logo with the Be The Difference tagline should be used prominently on promotional materials, including publications, advertising, stationery and electronic media. Exceptions must be granted by the Office of University Relations: 414.288.7448.
- The logo was designed to be used in its entirety. The words Marquette University and the Marquette tower graphic must never be used separately.
- The logo may be reproduced only from an original digital file (.ai Adobe Illustrator, .eps .png or .jpeg formats).
- The logo must not be photocopied, scanned, re-created, reproportioned or altered in any way.

Color variations

Full-color logo (Primary)

The Pantone, CMYK or RGB full-color logos are preferred. Use Pantone or CMYK for any commercially printed materials. Use RGB for electronic use such as PowerPoint presentations, digital or video.

One-color—blue

Use the blue logo version when full-color printing is not an option or when the design requires a simpler use of color.

One-color—black

Use the black logo version when one-color printing is required and for applications such as varnishing, embossing, debossing, die-cutting or extrusion.

One-color gold logo

Use the gold logo for applications on color or photographic backgrounds. Always ensure that the background you choose provides sufficient contrast for the logo.

Reverse (knockout) logo

Use the reverse logos for applications on color or photographic backgrounds. Always ensure that the background you choose provides sufficient contrast for the logo.

Clear space

Maintaining clear space around the logo ensures that it remains fully legible and has room to breathe. Photos, text and graphic elements must follow this guideline. Use the height of the Marquette icon as a measuring tool for proper clearance, and the 'Q' in the Marquette logo to properly space the lockup elements.

The x represents the minimum clear space required around the logo. There is, however, no maximum distance necessary.

Endowed college logos

While the university logo represents the organization as a whole, endowed college logos show the relationship between the university and an endowed college.

Endowed college logos exist for Klingler College of Arts & Sciences, Diederich College of Communication and Opus College of Engineering.

Endowed college logos are available in two variations: horizontal and vertical. They are available in the following color variations: full-color (blue and gold), blue, black, gold or reverse (white).

Endowed college unit logos show the relationship between the university and the college and its departments, institutes, centers and clinics.

ENDOWED COLLEGE UNIT LOGO

Unit logos

While the university logo represents the organization as a whole, unit logos show the relationship between the university and its colleges, schools, departments, institutes, centers and clinics.

Unit logos are available to colleges, schools, departments, centers, institutes and clinics.

Our unit logos are available in three variations: centered, horizontal and vertical. They are available in following color variations: full-color (blue and gold), blue, black, gold or reverse (white).

Unit logos can be used with one or two lines of text. This allows you to identify your college, school or unit in different styles and degrees of formality, and to accommodate longer and shorter names. A department, center, institute or clinic name can be related to the college or school in which it resides as the College of Health Sciences unit logo below illustrates.

Custom marks

Certain areas of the university may benefit from customized identifiers. Examples include Marquette Police, Haggerty Museum of Art, and some centers and institutes.

These areas, while integral to the university, also may serve additional audiences outside of the university and/or academia. The Haggerty Museum of Art serves as an arts destination for the community, city and world. Marquette University Police Department is dedicated to maintaining a safe environment conducive to learning, living and working at Marquette. Custom marks utilize aspects of the university identity—either typeface, color or graphic elements like the Marquette Hall Tower graphic.

For all external communication, including websites, custom marks should always be considered as secondary identifiers and used in conjunction with the university logo.

For internal communications, such as signage, identifiers can stand alone. All external-facing marks should use blue and/or gold as their primary colors. Internal-facing marks have more leeway but should reflect the color palette.

Wordmarks

A wordmark is a distinct text-only typographic treatment representing a major Marquette event, entity or limited campaign. The development of wordmarks is limited and approved through the Office of University Relations.

All Marquette wordmarks utilize aspects of the university identity—including typeface and color.

Wordmarks should always be considered as secondary identifiers and used in conjunction with the university logo.

Cobranding

Internal co-branding

Different entities (department, college/school or division, etc.) are simply listed in alphabetical order to the right of the university logo and separated by a vertical line.

Co-branding with other institutions or partners

As the number of partnerships with outside companies, organizations and academic institutions increases, there is a need for consistency in how we represent Marquette University in these partnerships.

The co-branded entity's logo and Marquette University's logo should be the same size and proportional to one another. The entity's logo can be smaller, but must never be larger.

Marquette's logo should be used without the Be The Difference tagline.

Athletic marks

Marquette's athletics marks were designed for the express use of the departments of Intercollegiate Athletics and Recreational Sports. Only varsity and recognized club athletics teams, communication pertaining directly to athletics teams, and approved merchandise may use the athletics marks.

The athletics monogram must be used in its entirety.

The monogram may not be used by intramural sports teams or divisions of the university not directly related to intercollegiate athletics.

The athletics monogram must never replace the university logo as the official university signature in non-athletics visual materials, including publications, stationery, advertising merchandise or electronic media.

The monogram may be reproduced only from an original digital file (.ai, Adobe Illustrator, .eps or JPEG formats).

Reproduction of the athletics monogram must adhere to color, size and spacing specifications.

Any other use of the monogram must be approved by the department of intercollegiate athletics.

For approval to use or questions regarding the usage of the Marquette athletics monogram or wordmarks contact, Scott Kuykendall at 414.288.4794.

University seal

The use of the university seal as the primary identifier of the university is restricted to official documents, such as diplomas and transcripts, special invitations sent under the president's signature and approved merchandise. The seal must never replace the university logo as the university signature in visual materials including publications, stationery, advertising or electronic media.

The seal was designed to be used in its entirety. While a portion of the entire seal may be used as a graphic element, parts may not be separated from the whole.

The university seal can be used only with the approval of the Office of University Relations.

University seal background

The Marquette University seal, which is reserved for use on approved official and presidential documents and events, consists of an outer ring encircling three interior sectors.

The outer ring features the name of the university, its founding year (1881) and the Jesuit motto, Ad majorem Dei gloriam, "For the greater glory of God." In this way, the outer circle frames the seal with who we are, how long Marquette University has existed and the university's purpose.

The seal's interior is divided into two upper sectors composing one half of the circle; one lower sector makes up the other half.

The upper half honors Marquette's Catholic, Jesuit tradition and values. The upper left sector features diagonal bands to honor the seven heroic brothers from the maternal side of St. Ignatius' family. The upper right sector houses the monogram of the Society of Jesus, a Christogram that forms an abbreviation for the name of Jesus Christ in Greek — a longstanding symbol for the Jesuits. In the monogram, a cross rises from the H; below it, three nails symbolize the Crucifixion. Surrounding the monogram is a sunburst. The placement on the upper right side symbolizes a rising sun.

The lower half acknowledges Marquette's location among the lands and waterways of the area's Indigenous nations. The landscape depicted in this space is devoted to symbols that reflect and honor the presence and spirit of these Indigenous nations explored by the university's namesake, Rev. Jacques Marquette, S.J., with Indigenous guides. The three rivers represent the Milwaukee, Menomonee and Kinnickinnic rivers and recognize the significance of water to our location and history.

The representation of wild rice recognizes the sustaining food source that once abundantly grew in the flourishing waters and was mindfully harvested by Indigenous peoples. The three stalks of wild rice emerging from the waters are a potent reminder of the historic presence of Potawatomi, Menominee and Ho-Chunk nations in the area who vibrantly remain here among other tribal nations.

The university seal reflects Marquette's history, tradition and Catholic, Jesuit mission, and honors the role of the Indigenous nations that guided Father Marquette on his journey.
