

The Center for the Advancement of the Humanities Presents:

Showcasing the Humanities

“Gluttony in Christian Theological Imagination”

Dr. Jeanne-Nicole Saint-Laurent

Saint-Laurent is a scholar of Syriac studies and early Christianity, with special interests in hagiography and sacred narrative. She is the author of Missionary Stories and the Formation of the Syriac Churches, which received an award from the Hagiography Society in 2018.

The Showcasing the Humanities Lecture Series

The Showcasing the Humanities lecture series aims to present the work of humanities experts from Marquette University. The lectures will be from a faculty representing the Departments of Philosophy, Theology, and Languages, Literatures, and Cultures. The lectures are meant to be accessible for a general audience, and they aim to engage the greater Milwaukee community.

Thursday, March 31st from 5:00-6:30 pm at the Jewish Museum of Milwaukee, 1360 N. Prospect Ave.

(Onsite parking available)

Register on Eventbrite for “Showcasing the Humanities”

