At the completion of the Knowledge Area – Cultures and Societies, the graduate is able to:

1. Demonstrate an understanding of the discipline of history, in particular the application of historical methodologies in the formulation of plausible interpretations of human behavior in past centuries.

2. Demonstrate an understanding of how societies develop over centuries through the complex interaction of socio-economic, political, religious, and other cultural forces including historical memories constructed by successive generations.

3. Demonstrate an understanding of continuities and differences between the past and the present.