NURSING  M.S.N. (August 2006; Updated March 2011)
At the completion of the Nursing M.S.N. degree program, the graduate is able to:

1) Demonstrate competence in selected scope of graduate level nursing practice.
   a) Use data and analytical processes to discover, critique, and/or synthesize nursing knowledge.
   b) Apply pertinent theories and evidence from research and related disciplines to guide advanced nursing practice.
   c) Use varied models of communication effectively in leadership roles within health care and the profession.
   d) Initiate, maintain, and promote intra- and interdisciplinary collaboration in providing health care.
   e) Apply ethical principles to decision making in health care.
   f) Provide culturally appropriate care.