ADVERTISING (August 2006)
At the completion of the Advertising major, the graduate is able to:

1. Apply the principles of primary and secondary research to ADPR situations.

2. Create effective advertising plans using fundamental planning components including situation analysis, market profile, objectives, strategies and tactics.

3. Create effective ads across various media for a targeted audience.

4. Integrate advertising with other forms of marketing communication as part of a strategic plan.