At the completion of the Biomedical Engineering M.S. degree program, the graduate is able to:

1. Demonstrate critical thinking skills.

2. Communicate technical information appropriate for the intended audience.

3. Demonstrate technical proficiency in at least one area of Biomedical Engineering.

4. Critically evaluate the application of scientific methods in addressing biomedical engineering problems.