FOREIGN LANGUAGES AND LITERATURES (August 2006)

Classical Languages, French, German, Spanish Language and Literature, Spanish for the Professions, Teaching Majors in Latin, French, German and Spanish

At the completion of a Foreign Languages and Literatures major, the graduate is able to:

1. Demonstrate proficiency in the target language(s).

2. Interpret works of the target language(s) using concepts of linguistics, literary and/or cultural theory.

3. Analyze the cultures of the target language(s) as they compare to other cultures.