At the completion of a major in Operations & Supply Chain Management, the graduate will be able to:

1. Apply written and oral communication skills to business situations.
2. Analyze the global business environment.
3. Analyze the local business environment.
4. Apply critical thinking skills to business situations.
5. Analyze ethical issues in business situations.
6. Understand and analyze operations and supply chain management issues in a firm.