PHILOSOPHY (August 2006)
At the completion of a Philosophy major, the graduate is able to:

1. Employ correct principles of reasoning (logic) in philosophical analysis.

2. Compare and contrast a range of philosophical positions on a particular problem.

3. Defend a philosophical position on a philosophical problem.