POLITICAL SCIENCE AND INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS  M.A. (August 2006)
At the completion of a Political Science M.A. degree program, the graduate is able to:

1. Demonstrate knowledge of the central concepts and the central theories in their fields of study in political science appropriate for entry into a political science Ph.D. program or politics-related occupation.

2. Construct a research project on a research question in their fields of study.

3. Write papers reporting research findings in an appropriately professional manner.