

Felisa Parris Joins the College of Professional Studies Staff

The College of Professional Studies is very pleased to announce that Felisa Parris has joined our staff as an academic adviser for graduate programs.

Felisa earned a master's degree in Leadership Studies from the College of Professional Studies in 2009, and is currently beginning her interdisciplinary (INPR) doctorate studies at Marquette. She is also a graduate of the Future Milwaukee Leadership Program (May 2009). Before joining the College of Professional Studies, Felisa worked at M&I

Corporation as a business analyst. In the past, she also served as the executive director for a nonprofit organization for four years, where she provided advising and coaching to many members of our community. She has received three service awards over the past several years, including one from M&I and a proclamation from Mayor Tom Norquist for community service. In addition, Felisa was one of the Rotary Leadership Scholarship Finalists for 2009.

“Felisa’s commitment to our students, to the university and to the community, as a whole, demonstrates her close alignment with our college’s vision and values,” said Dr. Jay Caulfield, Associate Dean, College of Professional Studies/Graduate Program.

Please join us in welcoming Felisa to our College!
