

1980s

Victoria Tullett Blackwell (BA) attended Lewis and Clark College Law School, after which she ran her own law practice and worked as an attorney for Kindercare Learning Centers. She joined Papa Murphy's International in 2000 and is now vice president and general counsel for the pizza chain.

Jon L. Brudvig (MA) went on to receive his PhD at the College of William and Mary. He taught history for a number of years at the College of Mary in North Dakota. He is now Director of the Theodore Roosevelt Honors Leadership Program at Dickinson State University.

Gerald Couri (BA) is policy coordinator for environment and hazardous materials issues for the U. S. House of Representatives Energy and Commerce Committee. Couri has worked on Capitol Hill for a number of years, including a stint as senior legislative assistant to Rep. Paul Gillmor (R-OH).

Nicholas J. Dinardo (BA) received his PhD from Brandies University and is a professor of national security affairs at the United States Marine Corps Staff and Command College in Quantico, Virginia. Among his most recent publications is Germany and the Axis Powers: From Coalition to Collapse (2005).

John Feehery (BA, MA) has served as an aid and speechwriter to several members of Congress and as director of communications for Speaker of the House J. Dennis Hastert. He is the founder and Chief Executive Officer of the Feehery Group, a strategic advocacy firm in Washington, DC. He was named the Young Alumni of the Year for Marquette's School of Arts and Sciences in 2003.

Patrick Foran (BA) is Director of Development for Milwaukee in the Marquette University Advancement Office.

Laura A. Guy (BA) received her law degree from the University of Wisconsin at Madison. She is a Vice-President of Schaper, Benz & Wise Investment Counsel, Inc., and manages relationships and portfolios for the firm's clients.

Maja Antonia Jurisic (BA) received her medical degree from the University of Wisconsin medical school and received training in emergency medicine at Wright State University. She practices in Milwaukee.

David Kapler (MA) is Vice President/Compliance Officer and Assistant Corporate Secretary for Heartland Financial USA, Inc., a financial services company headquartered in Dubuque, Iowa, and with locations in nearly fifty cities.

Steven J. Kempf (BA) has worked for a number of years in the United States General Services Administration. He was named acting Assistant Commissioner for Acquisition Management in early 2008.

Pepper LaMothe (MA) is co-owner of Perpendicular, a wine bar and restaurant on Milwaukee's west side.

Michael A. Lindsay (BA) went on to study at the London School of Economics and to receive his law degree at the University of Chicago, where he was managing editor of the law review. He is a partner in the Minneapolis office of the international law firm Dorsey & Whitney, where he specializes in anti-trust, securities, and unfair competition cases. He was listed in the 2008 edition of The Best Lawyers in America.

Steven Loucks (BA) worked as a political consultant and as an aide to U. S. Senator Bob Kasten before serving for several years in the Wisconsin State Assembly. Since then he worked as a public relations executive for travel agencies in Wisconsin, Virginia, and Chicago.

Colleen Shannon Magruder (BA) is vice president of human resources for McShane Construction Corp. of Rosemont. She was previously director of human resources of Chicago-based Beltone Electronics Corp.

Michael J. Meagher (BA) received his law degree from Cornell University. He is the co-founder of Seaport Group in New York City, a firm whose research, trading, and corporate finance teams provide financial guidance and analysis, market insights and execution capabilities to corporations and investors.

Herman H. Raspé (BA) received his law degree from Vanderbilt University and is a partner and Chair of the Corporate Department at Patterson, Belknap, Webb, and Tyler in New York City. He represents many international companies in their dealings in the United States and lectures frequently around the country on the regulation of foreign firms operating in the U. S.

Carrie Ronnander (BA) is Curator of Collections at the Chippewa Valley Museum in Eau Claire, Wisconsin.

Richard Sankovitz (BA) is a Circuit Court Judge in Milwaukee County. He serves on the faculty of the Judicial College. Formerly he was a shareholder in the law firm of Whyte Hirschboeck Dudek S.C. After graduation from Harvard Law School, and he clerked for (then) United States District Court Judge (now United States Circuit Court Judge) Terence T. Evans. He was appointed to the bench in 1996.

Daryl Michael Scott (BA) is professor of history at Howard University. He received his PhD at Stanford University and taught at Columbia University and the University of Florida before coming to Howard in 2003. His book, Contempt and Pity: Social Policy and the Image of the Black Psyche, 1880-1996 (Chapel Hill: University of North Carolina Press, 1997), won the 1998 James A. Rawley Prize of the Organization of American Historians for the best work on race relations history in the United States.

Anne Heesters Schroth (BA) received her law degree from the University of Virginia and is now an associate in the Real Estate Department at the Baltimore office of the Ballard, Spahr, Andrews and Ingersoll law firm.

Peter James Schaefer (BA) is general counsel of Mark Travel Corp. & Affiliated Companies.

Kamil Z. Skawinski (BA, MA) is a Milwaukee-based journalist who has written on subjects as diverse as science, computer technology, the challenges of the American IT industry, and personal finance. He is presently a regular freelance contributor to the website Bankrate.com, where his work is syndicated nationwide. Additionally, he is an abstractor of Polish-language historical journals for the independent academic publisher, ABC-CLIO, in Santa Barbara, California.

John N. Vogel (PhD) is president and CEO of Heritage Research, Ltd., a public history firm who contracts with states, construction companies, and municipalities to research and produce environmental impact statements, business and institutional histories, and legal research. He is also author of Great Lakes Lumber on the Great Plains (1993).

Joseph J. Simonetti (MA) is director of housing operations for Northwestern University as well as an adjunct lecturer in U.S., Latin American and Asian history at both National Louis University and Columbia College in Chicago.

Phyllis Soybel (BA, MA) received her PhD from the University of Illinois and is currently an associate professor and head of the social sciences department at the College of Lake County in Grayslake, Illinois. She is the author of A Necessary Relationship: The Development of Anglo-American Cooperation in Naval Intelligence (2005).

Monica Steigerwald (BA) was program manager of OMG Center for Collaborative Learning and director of development at Mastery Charter High School in Philadelphia. She is now the nonprofit and foundation specialist for Sage Communications Partners, a firm specializing in communications for nonprofits, foundations, and corporate citizenship.