

1990s

Kevin A. Banasik (BA) received his law degree from Harvard University, where he was executive editor of the Journal of Law and Public Policy and an editor of the Journal on Legislation. He is currently a partner working out of the Chicago office of the law firm of Winston & Strawn, where he specializes in litigation concerning consumer fraud and corporate internal investigations.

Rosa Maria Barillas (BA) received her law degree from Marquette University and currently serves on the board of the MU Law School Alumni Association. She is a court commissioner in the Civil Division of the Milwaukee County Courts.

Colin Beaumier (BA) has worked as a chef in a number of fine restaurants in Milwaukee and Chicago. A graduate of the Culinary Institute of America in Hyde Park, New York, he is currently Executive Chef and Manager of Cornelia's Bistro and Lucka's Café in Chicago.

James A. Bohl, Jr. (BA, MA) taught high school in Milwaukee and was an aide to Congressman Tom Barrett before being elected to the Milwaukee Common Council in 2000.

Cristina Crogan (BA) is Donor Relations Director at Columbia-St. Mary's Foundations in Milwaukee.

Jennifer Desiderio (BA) completed her PhD in English at Ohio State University and is currently an assistant professor at Canisius College, where she teaches courses on early American literature. She is currently co-editing a collection of essays on Susanna Rowson, entitled Beyond Charlotte Temple: New Approaches on Susanna Rowson, and co-editing an edition of Hannah Webster Foster's The Coquette and The Boarding School.

John Eastberg (MA) is director of development and senior historian at the Captain Frederick Pabst Mansion in Milwaukee in Milwaukee, Wisconsin. He is a frequent lecturer and writer on topics related to the historic house, the Pabst family, Gilded Age architecture.

Patrick Enders (BA) received a master's degree in public history from Johns Hopkins University and a medical degree from the University of Wisconsin-Madison. He is a pediatrician in Lakeville, Minnesota.

Brian Faltinson (MA) is a long-time associate at the public history firm Heritage Research, Ltd, in Menomonee Falls, Wisconsin. He is also a 1st Sergeant in the Army Reserve and served a tour of duty in Iraq.

Eric B. Fjelstad (BA) received his law degree from Lewis and Clark Law School and is now managing partner of the Anchorage, Alaska, office of Perkins Coie. He specializes in environment and natural resources issues.

Patrick Grace (BA) is Executive Director of the Catholic Diocese of Cleveland Foundation.

Daniel Heimmerman (PhD), was a professor of history at the University of North Alabama for more than a decade. In fall 2008 he became Dean of the College of Liberal Arts at the University of Texas at Brownsville.

Joseph E. Kapler, Jr. (MA) went on to earn his master's degree in public history at Eastern Illinois University. He is now Curator of Domestic Life at the museum of the Wisconsin Historical Society in Madison.

Jack LoPresti (BA) coaches girls' cross country at Wauwatosa West High School in Wisconsin and coordinates the junior and high school track clubs for the district recreation program.

Mary Kathryn McCreery (BA) attended law school at the University of Notre Dame and is now an attorney in the Real Estate Department of Greenberg Traurig's Chicago office.

Anne Garcia McCullough (BA) attended William Mitchell College of Law. She is a motivational speaker, seminar leader, and consultant for her own company, Seeing With Your Heart . . . Living with Muscular Dystrophy, which is headquartered in Colorado.

Mark McGarvie (MA) received his PhD in history from Indiana University. He has taught history and leadership studies at the University of Richmond since 2003. He is author of One Nation Under Law: America's Early National Struggles to Separate Church and State (2004) and co-editor of Charity, Philanthropy, and Civility in American History (2004).

Steve Morgan (MA) is a high school social studies teacher in Mitchell, South Dakota. He was one of seven regional awardees of the South Dakota Teacher of the Year in 2008.

Megan O'Keefe (BA) is Director of Jean's Place, a transitional living residence for homeless women operated by Transition Projects Inc. in Portland, Oregon.

Katie Maloney Perhach (BA) received her law degree from Marquette University and is a partner in the Milwaukee law firm of Quarles & Brady, where she works in the commercial litigation group. She received the 2007 Howard B. Eisenberg Award for service to the community from Marquette University Law School and the 2006 Private Law Firm Pro Bono Attorney of the Year from the Legal Assistance Committee of the State Bar of Wisconsin.

Kelly Quigley (BA) is associate editor of Realtor Magazine Online and associate editor of Realtor Association Executive. Previously, Kelly served as the online reporter for Crain's Chicago Business, and covered the commercial real estate and retail beats for The Business Journal in Milwaukee.

Richard E. Russell III (BA) received his law degree from Wayne State University and is now a partner with Williams, Williams, Rattner & Plunkett in Birmingham, Michigan, where he specializes in commercial, real estate and land use law.

Paul Russo (BA) is vice-president of Sterling Engineering, an Elmhurst, Illinois, firm that provides engineering services and staffing.

James C. Scott (BA) received his MA in history at Portland State University and his MS in library science at San Jose State University. He is the social sciences and government documents librarian at the Sacramento Public Library.

Ed Sivak (BA) received his master's in public policy from Georgetown University and is Vice President, Policy and Evaluation for ECD/HOPE, a non-profit that provides economic stimulation and financial services to economically struggling communities in the mid-South area of the United States.

Tomm Smithe (BA) is Inspector, Public Education Coordinator, and head of the Fire Prevention Bureau in the Wauconda, Illinois, Fire Department.

Gary S. Stanislawski (BA) received his law degree from Marquette University and is associated with the Zilske Law Firm, S.C., in Brookfield, Wisconsin.

Michelle M. Stoeck (BA) received her law degree from Marquette University and worked as an attorney for Wisconsin Gas and as a clerk for the United States Attorney. She is senior associate at the Waukesha, Wisconsin, law firm of Hills Legal Group.

Melissa Themar-Geck (BA) graduated from the Medical College of Wisconsin, served an internship in internal medicine at the University of South Florida in Jacksonville, and did her residency in radiology at the University of South Florida in Tampa.

Robert C. Thomas, Jr. (BA) is a social studies teacher at George Nelson Tremper High School in Kenosha, Wisconsin.

Daniel Tobin (BA) is Director International Sales and Director of Strategic Accounts for Reed Exhibitions, an international organizer of trade and consumer events.