

DANIEL JAMES MEISSNER

Associate Professor

Ph.D., University of Wisconsin-Madison, 1996

Chinese and Japanese History: Business, trade, and Sino-American foreign relations

NEW

Appointed to Editorial Board of China Business History.

BOOKS

Chinese Capitalists versus the American Flour Industry, 1900-1910: Profit and Patriotism in International Trade. (Lewiston, NY: Mellon Press, 2005).

Taming Shanghai: Late Imperial Diplomacy and Corruption under George F. Seward (in progress)

Serve the People. Book-length project on the personal histories and current situations of China's last college class to be shaped by both the Cultural Revolution and the post-Mao reforms. (in progress).

Translation:

100 Glimpses Into China: Short Stories From China. Ed. Li Jun (Beijing: Foreign Languages Press, 1989)

Book Chapters:

"California Clash: Irish and Chinese Labor in San Francisco, 1850-1870" in Donald Jordan and Timothy O'Keefe (eds.) The Irish in the San Francisco Bay Area: Essays on Good Fortune (San Francisco: Executive Council of the Irish Literary and Historical Society, 2005): 54-84.

PEER-REVIEWED ARTICLES AND MAJOR ENCYCLOPEDIA ENTRIES:

Glossary and notes for re-publication of Elizabeth Lewis's novel Young Fu (New York: Henry Holt, 2007)

"The 1905 Anti-American Boycott: A Nationalist Myth?" Journal of American-East Asian Affairs 10.3-4 (Fall-Winter, 2001): 175-196 (published 2007).

"Flour Milling," in Christine Rier, ed., The Encyclopedia of the Age of the Industrial Revolution (Greenwood, 2007)

"The Business of Survival: Competition and Cooperation in the Shanghai Flour Milling Industry." Economy and Society 6.3 (September 2005): 364-394.

"Casting Bread Upon the Waters: Researching China's Industrial Response to the Global Flour Trade, 1880-1910." Chinese Business History 14.1 (Spring 2004): 3-4ff.

"Theodore B. Wilcox: Captain of Industry and Magnate of the China Flour Trade, 1884-1910." Oregon Historical Quarterly (Winter 2003): 518-41.

"Imports and Industrialization: China's 'War' Against American Flour Imports, 1895-1910." Twentieth Century China 28.2 (April 2003): 1-40.

AWARDS, GRANTS and HONORS

Finalist, Raynor Award for Excellence in Teaching, 2007

Co-recipient of Mellon Grant. "Historical Societies: The Public Role." Fall 2005. ($4,705)

Marquette University Faculty Research Grant. Summer 2003. ($4,500)

Marquette University Technology in Teaching Grant. Summer 2002 ($3,000)