Be The Difference.

Why graduate studies in Leadership Studies at Marquette?

With a strong emphasis on ethics and leadership, our program gives graduates the skills needed to make tough choices about critical issues facing today's society. Our program focuses on building what employers are looking for — strong communication and leadership skills, the creation and maintenance of collaborative and productive teams, and the enactment and support of socially responsible behavior.

Be inspired. Learn from experienced leaders who keep course material current and practical — allowing you to immediately apply what you have learned.

Be ethical. In every course, you'll practice formulating and applying ethical decisions and choices to real-life situations.

Be noticed. Receive personalized attention from faculty members who take an active interest in your career goals.

Be resolute. Become a leader of character who is committed to excellence and service in your organization and community.

Be flexible. Enroll full or part time, depending on your schedule.

Our values-based education. As a Jesuit institution, Marquette continues a centuries-old tradition of academic excellence, development of the whole person and research that addresses societal needs.

YOUR JOURNEY

Today, a leader is responsible for ensuring ethical standards and modeling socially responsible behavior. Competency is just the price of admission. Today's good leaders must also think globally, respecting the rights and dignity of others in everything they do.

Master of leadership studies

Specializations:

- Criminal justice administration
- Dispute resolution
- Engineering
- Health care administration
- Nonprofit sector leadership
- Public service
- Sports leadership

Course work:

- Students must complete a minimum of 36 credit hours (12 classes) by:
  - completing a six-credit professional project and 30 credit hours of course work or
  - taking 36 hours of course work and passing a comprehensive final exam during their last semester of work.
- Required courses include history and theory of leadership and ethics; self-leadership; conflict resolution, negotiation and team leadership; and research methods.
- Students can choose a general track in leadership or a specialization.
- All classes are offered weeknights with a blend of on-campus and online learning.
- Students can expect to spend an average of 12 hours a week outside class on course work for every three-credit course.

My Marquette degree has given me the competence and confidence to tackle nonprofit issues that relate directly to my organization and the sector as a whole. The education I received gave me the tools I need to maximize and utilize my leadership ability in my current role and throughout my career.”

Ayeisha Domino-Brown, Grad '09
Service excellence director
Easter Seals Southeast Wisconsin

Time to completion:

- Full-time students taking three classes a semester can complete the program in as few as two years.
- Part-time students, on average, complete the program in three to four years.
- Students must complete the program in six years.

Other opportunities:

- Community and area company networking opportunities are available through several internships, independent studies and practica.
- Research opportunities are available to students awarded a research assistantship. The department awards only one assistantship, so competition for the position is high.

For more program details, including requirements and course descriptions, see the Graduate Bulletin at marquette.edu/grad.

Marquette's sports leadership specialization is one of only two such programs in the Milwaukee area. The program was developed in consultation with Marquette's Department of Athletics and gives students a direct link to Division I sports teams and the Big East. For more information, visit marquette.edu/cps/sports.

YOUR INVESTMENT

Furthering your education is an investment you can count on. Financial aid — in several forms — can help meet the costs of your graduate education at Marquette.

Tuition*

Full-time students:

Nine credit hours per semester at $905 per credit = $8,145 per semester

Part-time students:

Three to six credit hours per semester at $905 per credit = $2,715 to $5,430 per semester

A minimum of 36 credit hours is required to complete the master's program.

A minimum of 15 credit hours is required to complete the certificate program.

*Figures are based on average credit hours taken per semester and exclude service fees and/or continuous enrollment/continuation course fees. Per-credit cost valid until May 2011.

Need-based aid

Enroll as a half- or full-time student in a degree program (at least four credit hours, usually two or more classes a semester), and you may be eligible for loans distributed through the Office of Student Financial Aid. Most student loans have competitive interest rates and do not require repayment until after you complete your course of study.

To apply, file the Free Application for Federal Student Aid each year between January 1 and mid-February. It's available from the Office of Student Financial Aid or at fafsa.ed.gov. Once you have been admitted to your program and completed your financial aid paperwork, we will determine your eligibility and send you a notice explaining what financial aid you are eligible to receive from the university.

Additional resources

- Marquette offers a convenient payment plan that divides tuition costs into monthly installments. For more information, visit marquette.edu/mucentral or contact Marquette Central at (414) 288-4000.
- Employment assistance is available.
- Private lenders feature special educational loans.
- Your employer may offer a tuition-remission plan.
- Some private foundations offer financial aid for graduate study.
- Tax credits can be claimed for work-related educational expenses.

“The College of Professional Studies has been the best investment I’ve ever made. The faculty, staff and students have a spirit of excellence that flows outside the classroom and into the community. For me, it’s not all about the grades, but it is all about the outcome and making a difference.”
