

CARLA H. HAY

Associate Professor and Director of Undergraduate Studies
PhD, University of Kentucky, 1972
British History, Hanoverian Britain, women

BOOKS

Who's having This Baby?: Perspectives on Birthing. Co-author (East Lansing: Michigan State University Press, 2002).

The Past as Prologue: Essays to Celebrate the Twenty-Fifth Anniversary of ASECS. Co-editor (New York: AMS Press, 1995).

Studies in Eighteenth-Century Culture, 24. Co-editor (Baltimore, MD: The Johns Hopkins University Press, 1995).

Studies in Eighteenth-Century Culture, 23. Co-editor (East Lansing, MI: Colleagues Press, 1994).

Studies in Eighteenth-Century Culture, 22. Co-editor (East Lansing, MI: Colleagues Press, 1992).

Studies in Eighteenth-Century Culture, 21. Co-editor (East Lansing, MI: Colleagues Press, 1991).

Trading Post to Metropolis: Milwaukee County's First 150 Years. Associate editor (Milwaukee: Milwaukee County Historical Society, 1987).

James Burgh: Spokesman for Reform in Hanoverian England (Washington, D.C.: University Press of America, 1979).

CURRENT RESEARCH

A study of celebrity in eighteenth-century England

AWARDS HONORS AND EXTERNAL GRANTS

Who's Who of American Women, 2005, 2006

Who's Who in American Education, 2005, 2006

Midwest American Society for Eighteenth Century Studies, President, 1992-93

Midwest Conference on British Studies, Secretary-Treasurer, 1988-94

Phi Alpha Theta (National History Honor Society), President, 1987-89, Vice President/Presidentelect, 1985-87

OTHER RECENT SCHOLARLY AND PROFESSIONAL ACTIVITY

"James Burgh," in Oxford DNB (Oxford University Press, 2004), 8: 781-83.

"Elizabeth Montagu," in Encyclopedia of the Enlightenment, ed., Alan Charles Kors (Oxford University Press, 2003), 3:80-82

The Historian, Board of Editors, 2000-

Milwaukee History, Editorial Committee, 1983-

Phi Alpha Theta Book Award Committee, 2003-

AAUP Committee on Women in the Academic Profession, 1998-2007

American Friends of the Institute of Historical Research (London), Board of Directors, 1997-