CURRENT RESEARCH

I have under way three related projects in various stages of completion. The first is a book project, tentatively entitled "Bandits," which is a study of eighteenth-century bands of thieves in the Paris region. At the same time, I am at work on an ancillary project that will be a synthetic study of European banditry. In addition, I am in the initial stages of a study of the use of military force against civilian crowd actions in the history of the west. It tentatively is titled "The Army and Crowd: From the Renaissance to Kent State."
