Contribute Documentation

Colors

The primary color palette through the Marquette Web site is blue and gold (to be consistent with the brand).

Below is an example of the color breakdown:

![Image of Marquette Web site color breakdown]

Note: Text in the main content area(s) should always remain dark gray. If you want certain text to stand out, do not underline or use red text, but instead use bold for these words. Underlining is usually an indication of a link, so it’s not good practice to use underline other than for links, and red is used in rare occasions for emergencies.