Course Objectives:

The purpose of this class is to develop both an understanding of the problem of politics – how to create and maintain a just political community – and the fundamental concepts relevant to American politics and government. We begin the course by examining the principles and documents at the foundation of American governance. We extend our focus by evaluating the institutions that constitute the federal system. This section will emphasize the separation of powers, the three federal branches (the presidency, Congress, and the judiciary), the bureaucracy, and political parties. We examine political behavior including voting, elections, interest group development, the media, and public opinion. In addition, students will gain a better understanding of current political controversies, the process by which these problems can be addressed by the American governmental system, and the citizens’ role in the process.

Upon completing the course students will be able to identify and explain the functions of U.S. government institutions. Students will also be able to identify and explain the main principles animating the U.S. government. In addition, students will be able to gather information from credible sources and express their ideas using clear, logical prose.

Other readings will be available on D2L.

Exams
There will be 3 exams. They will be non-cumulative. They will consist of a mixture of multiple choice, short answer and essay questions. Missed exams cannot be made up unless you have made arrangements PRIOR to the exam date – no exceptions. Missed exams will receive a 0.

Issue Response Essays
It is difficult to fully understand the concepts of the American political process without applying them to real-life problems and issues. Students are encouraged to follow political events by whatever means they choose. Current events will be discussed in class and students will be required to write two short essays on topics discussed in class. Specific guidelines will be distributed in class. Also, in addition to the hard copy of the essay that is turned in to the instructor, students are required to submit a copy of their essay on the course D2L dropbox. Essays are marked down one letter grade for each day they are late.

Participation
Students are expected to do the readings before each class and contribute regularly to class discussion. Participation will be evaluated not simply on the quantity of class participation, but whether the participation reflects knowledge and understanding of course readings. I reserve to raise the grade of students whose contribution to class discussion is particularly notable.

Attendance
Attendance is expected at each class, and a sign-in sheet will be provided at each class meeting. Do NOT sign in for classmates if they are absent. Signing someone else's name in their absence will be treated as academic dishonesty. If a student misses 6 or fewer classes during the semester attendance will not factor for the final grade at all. If a student misses more than 6 classes a grade of WA (Withdrawal-Excessive Absences) can be assigned.

The Marquette University Undergraduate Attendance Policy (revised in June 2011) states the following:

“Students are responsible for attending all class meetings for courses in which they are registered. Any absence, regardless of the reason, prevents students from getting the full benefit of the course and as such, no distinction is made between excused and unexcused absences, with the following exceptions:

1. Absences resulting from legal obligations (such as jury duty).
2. Absences resulting from university sanctioned activities and related travel.”

The Policy also states “the Marquette University Student Health Service does not provide documentation of illness, or of a visit to the Student Health Service. Likewise, college and other university offices (e.g., Office of the Dean, Counseling Center and Student Affairs) do not provide documentation of an absence on behalf of the student.”

In cases of excessive absences, the Marquette Undergraduate Attendance Policy will be followed. “For courses in which attendance is regularly taken, an instructor or college office may withdraw a student from a course due to excessive absences and assign a grade of WA (Withdrawn-Excessive Absences)....Students who miss more than 6 classes in a 3 credit course that meets 50 minutes, 3 times per week, will be considered to have excessive absences and may be assigned a WA.”

Those who are involved in university sanctioned activities should submit a schedule of anticipated absences within the first 2 weeks of class, and also come talk to the instructor well in advance of any other university sanctioned activity that will result in a missed assignment/quiz/exam.
