UNDERGRADUATE COURSE DESCRIPTION

Term: Spring 2013
Instructor: Jeremy Blackwood
Course #: THEO 1001
Section: 128
Course Title: Introduction to Theology

Description:

This course will, first, introduce students to major sources of Christian theology as found in the Scriptures and Christian tradition. These include biblical materials, writings of significant Christian theologians, and important ecclesial documents. Second, this course will introduce students to the process of doing theology. They will gain an acquaintance with basic theological vocabulary and will learn to think theologically by critically identifying theological elements in social and cultural issues. They will gain an ability to relate Scripture and the Christian tradition to the current social and cultural context as well as to their own personal lives. With the successful completion of this course, students will have gained the skills and knowledge for more advanced academic study in theology.
