

2011 William J. Kelly, S.J. Chair Lecture

“What’s at the Heart of a Catholic University?”

Dr. Patrick W. Carey

William J. Kelly, S.J. Chair, Professor of Historical Theology

Thursday, April 28, 2011

4:00 PM

David Straz Hall, Rm. 105

A university is not a church, and the Catholic Church is not a university. So, what is the fundamental relationship between Catholicism and the university? Does the presence of a campus ministry, a Theology department, or an emphasis on social justice constitute the heart of a Catholic university? Or, is it something else? The lecture focuses on these questions and argues that a Catholic university underlines an inherent relationship between learning, teaching, research and faith.

Free and Open to the Public

Contact:

www.marquette.edu/theology

(414) 288-7170