UNDERGRADUATE COURSE DESCRIPTION

Term: Fall 2013
Instructor: Rev. Robert Doran, S.J.
Course #: THEO 2310
Section: 105
Course Title: Explorations in Christian Theology
Variable Topic: Christian Anthropology

Description:

The course is devoted to examining the meaning and interconnections of some of the central themes in Christian theology (e.g. Jesus Christ, Trinity, Church, Sacraments, Sin and Grace, Revelation). A special focus for this course will be on Christian Anthropology, the meaning of what it is to be human. Principal figures discussed are theologian Bernard Lonergan and cultural anthropologist Rene Girard. The principal texts are Mark T. Miller, The Quest for God and the Good Life: Lonergan's Theological Anthropology, and notes distributed online weekly by the professor. The grade will be based on class participation, including one 15-minute presentation by each student, and two 10-page papers.
