Unsure about signing up for the Brewed Ideas Challenge? READ THIS
"Participating in the Brewed Ideas Challenge was one of the best strategic decisions I've ever made. Last year, I entered the competition to earn money for a hands-on, plastic recycling workspace called Revive. While preparing for the pitch, my mentor and I spent time diving into how to frame the problem and why my solution would be worth investing in. The entire process helped refine a simple idea into a tangible solution to Marquette's recycling problems. In addition to walking away with some funding for the project, I had a more concrete plan for the future and the confidence needed to make it happen."
