Humanities Without Walls
Predoctoral Career Diversity Fellowship Workshop
Marquette University Nomination Call for Applications

Fellowship Nomination Deadlines:

- November 1: submit application materials to Dr. Andrew Kim
- November 8: students notified of their nomination status
- December 1: CfAH submits nomination materials to HWW

What:

Humanities Without Walls (HWW) is a consortium of humanities centers and institutes at 16 major research universities throughout the Midwest and beyond. Based at the Humanities Research Institute at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign (UIUC), HWW has been funded by three successive grants from The Andrew W. Mellon Foundation.

In summer 2023, HWW is holding its summer workshop for doctoral students interested in learning about careers outside of the academy and/or the tenure track system in Minneapolis, Minnesota and hosted by the University of Minnesota. Through a series of workshops, talks, and virtual field trips, participants learn how to leverage their skills and training towards careers in the private sector, the non-profit world, arts administration, public media and many other fields.

Marquette University invites applications from doctoral students pursuing degrees in the humanities and humanistic social sciences to participate in this two-week, in-residence summer workshop. This is a limited-submission application. Eligible doctoral students must be nominated for this fellowship by Marquette University, and the university will only submit one nomination to HWW. To be considered, interested doctoral students must submit their applications by email to Dr. Andrew Kim, Director of the Center for the Advancement of the Humanities at andrew.kim@marquette.edu by Tuesday, November 1, 2022.

Fellowship Award: Each Fellow will receive a $4,000 award. All Fellows are expected to reside in Minneapolis during the duration of the workshop and be active participants in the workshop for its entirety. Housing will be provided by the University of Minnesota’s College of Liberal Arts.

Process:

Interested doctoral students must submit the following materials to Andrew Kim at andrew.kim@marquette.edu The application file should contain:

- A narrative (1,000 words maximum) explaining the applicant’s intended career trajectory and addressing the following questions:
- What are your career interests or your intended career trajectory? How has your background and experiences impacted your choices?
- How has your background and experiences impacted your choices?
- How will this workshop help you achieve your goals? What knowledge and skills are you hoping to learn?
- What will you bring to the workshop community? What relevant experiences (personal and professional) will help you to contribute to the workshop cohort?
- How will you share what you learn at the workshop with colleagues, your department, campus, and beyond? What impact will it have on your community, field, or discipline?
- How do you plan to incorporate a social justice lens into your daily work in your future career?
- What opportunities (if any) have you had at your campus (or beyond) to explore diverse career opportunities?

- CV or resume (two pages maximum).
- One letter of recommendation. This letter should be from a faculty member familiar with the applicant’s work and should emphasize the applicant’s fit for this workshop. If you are selected as Marquette’s nominee, you will be required to submit a second letter of recommendation as a part of your nomination application to HWW.
- Marquette’s nominee will be notified of their selection by November 8, 2022 and will receive recommendations and edits for their full application materials from the nominating committee. The nominee will then have time to revise their materials and submit their second letter of recommendation before the final submission to HWW by December 1, 2022.
- Marquette’s Director of the Center for the Advancement of the Humanities (CfAH) will submit the nominee’s formal application materials via InfoReady to HWW by December 1, 2022.

Where: Minneapolis, Minnesota. Fellows are expected to be in residence in Minneapolis for the duration of the workshop, to attend all workshop activities each day and be active participants in the program for its entirety. Fellows are required to stay in the housing arranged and provided through the University of Minnesota College of Liberal Arts.

When: July 17–July 28, 2023

Eligibility: All applicants must be enrolled in a doctoral degree program in a humanities or humanistic social science discipline at a PhD-granting institution within the United States. Applicants may be at any stage of their doctoral work, but they cannot have already received the doctoral degree at the time the workshop takes place. Applicants cannot have a graduation date before the start of the workshop. International students are eligible to apply, but are responsible for confirming their registration and eligibility status at their home universities; HWW is not responsible for issuing visa paperwork.

All questions for Marquette’s internal nomination selection process should be directed to Andrew Kim at andrew.kim@marquette.edu or Margaret Nettesheim Hoffmann, Associate Director of Career Diversity, Humanities Without Walls at margaret.nettesheim-hoffmann@marquette.edu.
