From the Professor of Military Science

Alumni, Family, Friends and Cadets of the Golden Eagle Battalion:

Congratulations and WOW! I am once again amazed by the accomplishments achieved by our Cadets and the efforts they exert on a daily basis. Their efforts are recognized throughout the newsletter and by the selections for summer attendance at a multitude of programs and training events. This year, we commissioned 23 Second Lieutenants, four in December and 19 in May, from three Universities – Marquette, Milwaukee, and Concordia. One commissionee that stands out is our Second Semester Battalion Commander, 2LT Taryn Krohn pictured next to me, she is recognized as one of eight Cadets nationally to receive the Legion of Valor Medal. Our Varsity Sport, Ranger Challenge, with our nine person team placed first in the Task Force McCoy Ranger Challenge Competition and second in the 3rd ROTC Brigade Ranger Challenge competition (equivalent to a sweet sixteen Nationally). We had 12 Cadets selected for Cultural Internships (CULP) this summer (Chile, Dominica, Germany (2), Greece, Guyana, Hungary, Italy, Mongolia, Senegal, Thailand, and Vietnam); one for the Department of Defense sponsored ($1.5 Million grant) Marquette University facilitated Project GO (Global Officer) to Amman, Jordan; seven Cadets selected for CTLT (Cadet Troop Leadership Training); one Cadet selected for Air Assault School; three Cadets selected for NSTP (Nursing Summer Training Program); one Cadet selected for an Army Medical Internship in Dentistry; seven Cadets selected for a biometrics/forensics internship; two prospective Cadets will attend the Leaders Training Course, and 24 Cadets attend the Warrior Forge Leadership Development and Assessment Course. All of these additional training opportunities are very competitive, and the extra summer experiences for 38 students really does set theses Marquette Scholar-Athlete-Leaders up for great success in the future. With so many selections, it once again proves Marquette Cadets are among the elite in the country.

I am already excited to start a new year with a great Cadet leadership team and our crop of new Cadets. All of our upper class cadets are leaning forward to prepare the training and impart the knowledge and experience that they have learned. They all look forward to welcoming the new Cadets and their families in mid-August with the incoming cadet orientation. We have a great year of training planned to develop and hone the skills of our warrior leaders which prepares our cadets for their transition to officership! Below are just a few of the training events that our cadets will participate in during their leadership internship.

Incoming Cadet Orientation – 17-19 August
MSIV Semester Military Decision Making Process (MDMP) – 20-22 August
First day of School - Marquette – 25 August
Fall FTX – 17-19 September
TF Ranger Challenge – 17-19 October
Brigade Ranger Challenge – 24-26 October
Dining-in – 3 December

I am proud to announce our 5th annual Veterans Day Wall of Fame and Contracting ceremony, where we will expand our recognition through inducting at least two members of our alumni: MG Berzowski (UWM) and COL Mackey (MU) and contract approximately 25 new cadets into the US Army. Please mark your calendars and consider attending on 10 November 2014.

Lastly, I’d like to thank the Golden Eagle Battalion Alumni and Family Action Network (FAN Club) for their incredible contributions to the program. Without the leadership and efforts of our alumni and parents our program would not be as strong as it is today. We are very thankful for your time and donations that greatly benefit your Cadets!

Thank you again for the opportunity to lead these fine young men and women!

“Forged from Gold, Eagles Break the Mold…Be the Difference!”

Thank you Governor Walker for a heartfelt speech to the recent Army, Navy and Air Force commissionees as our Guest of Honor!
“Be an example to your men, in your duty and in private life. Never spare yourself, and let the troops see that you don’t in your endurance of fatigue and privation. Always be tactful and well-mannered and teach your subordinates to do the same. Avoid excessive sharpness or harshness of voice, which usually indicates the man who has shortcomings of his own to hide.”

After a weekend out in the field eating prepackaged meals and conducting training exercises throughout the woods of Fort McCoy what is it that cadets anxiously await upon their return? The Welcome Home Dinner! The Golden Eagle FAN Club provides a bountiful home cooked feast for our sons and daughters to enjoy before they head off to their rooms for quick naps and late night studying efforts.

The Golden Eagle FAN provided a little Christmas surprise for cadets before exams week with stockings of goodies and snacks.

Second Lieutenant Carolyn Rice, a recent commissionee, planned and executed the Golden Eagle Battalion’s Military Ball in addition to her duties as both the cadet executive officer and MSIII assistant TAC (Teacher Assessor Coach).

This year the Golden Eagle Battalion’s Military Ball was held 21 February at the Italian Community Center in downtown Milwaukee. Cadets enjoyed hearing the guest of honor, Colonel Robert Kaiser (MU ’87), share wisdom and humor in his speech. Cadet James Hurdman did an exceptional job as the master of ceremony for the night. A branching ceremony was conducted for Cadets Coppernoll, Dahm, Freeberg, Gooderham and Towne, who did not formally receive their branches at our Dining In. All senior cadets processed through a saber arch with their dates and were announced to the battalion. The night included a delicious dinner followed by fun and dancing.

Military ball has always been one of my favorite events. Through the toasts, fallen comrade table, Army song, and saber arch we get to share a few of our cherished military traditions with our friends and family. Thanks for everyone who helped out! If you would like to see pictures feel free to visit the Golden Eagle Battalion Page on Facebook and check out the photo album.

GAFPB

Marquette University Army ROTC hosted the event from 7-9 FEB 2014 for Soldiers and Cadets of Task Force McCoy. The German Armed Forces Proficiency Badge (GAFPB) is a competition and assessment that Soldiers can take part in to earn the foreign award. Facilitated by SGM Pohl (German Army Liaison from FLWMO), the competition consisted of track and field, swimming, pistol shoot and marching events. The ultimate goal being to earn enough points for a Gold, Silver or Bronze badge. This year Marquette University and other Wisconsin ROTC, National Guard, and Army Reserve programs participated in the event. All programs and units fielded 118 competitors and combined earned 47 Gold, 50 Silver and 12 Bronze badges.

Combined FTX

MSIII (Junior Class) cadets from eight different university Army ROTC programs across the upper Midwest arrived at Fort McCoy to conduct field training exercise. For the majority of cadets it is the first time they have worked with others cadets outside their university in scenarios and exercises very similar to the conditions they will encounter at LDAC this summer. Cadets completed land navigation, both day and night, platoon battle drills and patrolling operations throughout the weekend. Our leaders depart confident, better prepared and knowing more of what to expect when they arrive at Fort Knox this summer.
The annual Golden Eagle Battalion Spring FTX is held at Fort McCoy and provides cadets with a more realistic, expanded and in depth environment to practice and hone their basic soldiering skills. The typically three day event is expanded to four days for the MSIII cadets preparing to go to the Leadership Development and Assessment Course (LDAC) at Fort Knox this summer.

Leaving early Thursday morning these junior cadets started the weekend with Day and Night Land Navigation. Walking with only a compass, map and grid coordinates with the positions of select flags, cadets set off alone along trails and through dense vegetation with the goal of finding all of their navigation points before their mission time runs out.

At 0430 (4:30am) on Friday morning the MSIIIs were getting ready to go back out in woods of Fort McCoy to conduct squad training exercises (STX, 8-12 soldiers), while the rest of the battalion started their movement, by bus, from Marquette University to Fort McCoy in order to conduct their day land navigation. Upon completion of their day missions both groups met up at the land navigation assembly area (AA) to eat a marmite meal, practice setting up a patrol base and conduct another round of night land navigation. Upon completion of their night navigation cadets were split into two platoons to conduct patrol base activities and prepare for patrolling. Instead of turning in for the night in the barracks on base, cadets, led and overseen by cadre and MSIV TACs, scouted, created and moved into a patrol base. With temperatures close to freezing and operating without any source of light, but with the moon and stars cadets established a patrol base deep in the middle of the woods, enacted a security plan and curled up into their sleeping bags under the open sky.

Saturday operations consisted of proper methods to exit a patrol base, three platoon patrolling missions, and weapon cleaning and maintenance at the barracks.

Sunday’s events had most cadets cleaning their M16s, but also held an unique opportunity for Nurses and other medical orientated cadets to visit a simulated combat support forward hospital to learn about the Army’s simulation centers and what to expect while on duty abroad.
“I learned that good judgment comes from experience and that experiences grow out of mistakes.”

Blood Drive

The Blood Center of Wisconsin asked and again the Golden Eagle Battalion and the Marquette University community stepped up. This year the record was broken yet again; with 69 students and staff came coming to donate blood 60 units were drawn. Organized by the battalion’s nursing cadets the blood drive was considered an overwhelming success. Donation beds were rarely empty and the many walk-ins kept the system running at full capacity.

New Cadet Leadership

As customary and according to tradition at the end of each semester the cadet battalion goes through a change. At the end of the Spring Semester this is especially so. MSIIIs prepare to complete LDAC and become the new senior cadets in the battalion, while the MSIVs prepare for commissioning and careers in the Army. Before the final leadership lab a highly anticipated event occurs. The next year’s and semester’s duty positions are handed out. It is the time in the battalion when one finds out what exactly the next five months of ROTC will have in store for them. This Spring Semester we see the cadet battalion commander, Ms. Krohn (left), hand over the duties and responsibilities of leading the Golden Eagle battalion to Mr. Vanneman (middle) as he will assume not only Cadet Battalion Commander, but Ranger Challenge Varsity Team Captain positions. Mr. Vanneman upon completion of LDAC this summer will be going to Air Assault school and continuing to complete his Engineering degree. His right hand person was also introduced as the Cadet Command Sergeant Major Alyse Gooderham (right), who assumes the responsibilities and duties of training the Golden Eagle battalion. Ms. Gooderham is an Air Assault graduate and pre-medical student who is aiming for a career in dentistry with the military.

Buddy Ranger Challenge

Hosted by Kansas University ROTC
19 April 2014

The Golden Eagle Battalion sent five young buddy teams to Kansas University to participate in the 2014 Buddy Ranger Challenge competition. The competition was kicked off by a 9.3 mile qualifying ruck march. The teams that qualified then had to complete six different lanes, each consisting of multiple obstacles and situations. Each lane was both physically and mentally taxing. One lane was comprised of low crawling under barbed wire, buddy bounding, and grenade throws. Another lane involved litter carrying a 180 pound casualty, setting up a ‘NATO T’ landing zone, and properly applying a tourniquet. Of course, none of the lanes were complete without sprinting or climbing to and from each station within the lane. Overall, our cadets did an outstanding job, coming in fourth place as a battalion. This would not have been possible without the hard work and dedication from each of the cadets as well as their cadre, SFC Roberts and MSG Larsen. The buddy teams are looking forward to improving their places for next year.

Team Places:

GEB Army ROTC Overall 4 of 44

Men: Kempka/Teichman (MSIs) (14 of 170 teams)
Women: Maty/Schultz (MSIII/MSII) (6 of 19 teams)
Mixed: Schwei/Vanneman (MSIIIs) (10 of 50 teams)
Lemens/Olsen (MSII/MSI) (22 of 50 teams)

Semester Abroad - Jordan

During the Fall semester of my senior year I was allowed by GEB cadre and Cadet Command to study abroad in Amman, Jordan at the AMIDEAST Arabic Language Institute. I took two Arabic courses, and three content courses, involving the economics and political climate of the Middle East North Africa region. While in Amman I lived with an Armenian family living in Jordan. I stayed in West Amman and attended class a short walk from the American Embassy.

Although the academic curriculum was challenging, I was allowed ample time to travel and learn about the region. I traveled to most major sites in Jordan including the UNESCO World Heritage Site at Petra, the beautiful sands of Wadi Rum; where Lawrence of Arabia coordinated the Arab fight against the Germans during World War II, and the Roman ruins at Um Qais on the Jordanian-Israeli-Syrian border. I was also able to travel to Israel/Palestine with my mother during the Islamic holiday of Eid-Al-Adha. We traveled to the Golan Heights, the Sea of Galilee, Tel Aviv, and Jerusalem.

This trip enhanced my intellectual capability and cultural awareness as a 21st Century Army officer. Living in such a strategically important location has provided valuable insights into the conflicts of the region. I have a much better grasp of how these conflicts affect American national interest, as well as the American military.

Semester Abroad - China

Cadet Caroline Coppernoll, “I have long had a deep ingrained interest in China. This has stemmed from my high school years of beginner Chinese language classes, but now is rooted in aspects far from classroom study. This past Fall semester, I took some time away from Marquette University and studied abroad in China. During my semester abroad, my interest evolved into a love of the Chinese language and culture. The semester began with a two week trip traveling by train from the capital, Beijing to the far western Xinjiang Autonomous Region. Along the way, I was able to see the famous Terracotta Warriors, camp out and ride camels in the Taklamakan Desert, and wander through the famous Kashgar Market.

After traveling over 60 hours on the train to the remote regions of China, it was time to return to my new home in Beijing. At my university, I lived with a Chinese roommate who quickly became my best friend. She gave me rare insight into her culture and was willing to engage in conversations on topics that I never believed possible. My roommate not only shared what Chinese culture and history means to the Chinese, but also taught me that meaningful relationships can be made regardless of where you call home.

During my time in China, I improved my Chinese language skills immensely, attended graduate level courses on Chinese politics and religions, and truly lived as a local. These life changing experiences have not only fed my interest in China, but they have become directly applicable to my career in the Army. The lessons I learned through my travels, I hope to keep with me always and instill them in my subordinates.”
