

BizCareers – Jan. 17, 2022

Dear NAME:

We hope you are doing well and write with important details for spring 2022 career events and planning. While COVID continues to present uncertainty, there is a VERY HEALTHY market for internship and full-time hiring. This email contains details about spring 2022 career fairs and other key events. Overall, employers are eager to meet with interested students. As you prepare for the spring 2022 semester, have you considered how you will prioritize time for your career development?

- Sophomores, Juniors & Seniors – Engaging with employers and personalizing application efforts through event participation, LinkedIn communication, and networking are important ways to stand out as an applicant. Apply promptly, follow-up on each application, and prepare for interviews. Questions about your search or next steps? Schedule a Business Career Center appointment through Handshake.
- First year students – How are you laying the groundwork for your future marketability? Employers are looking for students who take advantage of opportunities to gain experience and network. Relevant experience can include student organizations, part-time jobs, community service, class projects and more. Show employers your initiative and interests through your action and engagement.
