CAMPUS TOUR:

There’s no right or wrong way to see Marquette’s campus. It’s beautiful all year long, and its median size makes it easy for students to get around. We’ve put together a short walking tour with some notable locations. If you’re interested in attending Marquette and want a guided tour, call the Office of Undergraduate Admissions at 414.289.3702, weekdays from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Alumni Memorial Union is the place to get a cup of coffee, say where Marquette yearbook buyers are just hanging out. It’s also where we bring in big-name speakers to talk to students about the future of society or their careers.

This engineering marvel is Engineering Hall, home of the College of Engineering. It houses 115,100 sq. ft. of space and includes 2900 seats and more than 125 rooms built-in for students to carry the structural behavior of the building.

There are outhouses, basketball courts, and football fields on all four corners of the Alumni Tennis Stadium and Recreation Center.

St. Jos of An Chapel is a 15th-century French church that has been carefully restored to reflect the original structure. It is considered one of the country’s leading university art museums.

The museum features rotating exhibits and a collection of objects, including the J. M. W. Turner watercolor. These objects are a perfect place to rest and can get a cup of coffee at the Bow in the Bridge—a popular spot during exam week.

Gilding Hall is the place to get a bite to eat, buy some Marquette gear, do some shopping, and spend time with your friends.

Everything we do is part of something bigger. It’s why our mission includes the search for truth, the discovery and sharing of knowledge, the fostering of personal and professional excellence, the promotion of a life of faith and the development of leadership expressed in service to others. Marquette is located near downtown Milwaukee and just one mile from Lake Michigan. Our location in a vibrant city provides our students with access to great restaurants, shopping, internships and job opportunities.

It’s easy to get around Marquette’s campus, which is separated into two distinct sides by Wisconsin Ave. We call these our Learning and Living sides.

Learning — The south side is where you’ll find our academic buildings. That makes getting from one class to the next pretty easy. Unless you dawdle, you will never be late.

Living — The north side is where you’ll find the residence halls and the Alumni Memorial Union. And pretty much everything else you need outside of an A on your paper.

Worth noting:

A. The future home of the Rev. Robert A. Wild, S.J., Commons, a state-of-the-art residence hall with two towers and room for 890 beds. Moving here is going to make leaving home a lot easier.

B. Where you’ll find the majority of off-campus dining. If you’re hungry, you’ll find something yummy here and no need to do the dishes.

C. Sendik’s 2 Go is where to go when you want some fresh food, or to fill your pantry. It’s the coolest grocery store in town.

D. Got an idea? Bring it to the 707 Hub. This collaborative space is our newest innovation space on campus.

E. Cheer here! Going to men’s basketball games is one of our favorite traditions. The BMO Harris Bradley Center is where the action is.

F. Upperclassmen live off campus, but just off campus. Across the street to be exact.

G. Marquette has two recreational facilities — the Rec Plex and the Helfaer Tennis Stadium and Recreation Center. Between both, there is access to swimming, gymnasiums, tennis, saunas and more.
