RESEARCH GRANTS, FELLOWSHIPS, AND AWARDS

2013 WVU Eberly College of Arts and Sciences Outstanding Researcher
Award: Funding: $1,000

2013 WVU Senate Grant for Research and Scholarship: Funding: $8,000

2012 The Character Project: “New Frontiers in the Philosophy of Character” Funding Initiative, Wake Forest University

Project title: “Failures of Characters: War Crimes, Obedience, and Responsibility”

Funding: $84,184.52

Duration: June 2012 – June 2013

Role: Principal Investigator. Co-investigator: Matthew Talbert, West Virginia University

Project summary: Drawing on work from social psychology and philosophy, this project will analyze situationist and characterological explanations of war crimes, and develop an account of moral responsibility that challenges long-standing assumptions about the relationship between situational forces, behavior, and moral responsibility.

2011 Eberly College Summer Mini-Grant: Funding: $5,000

2010 Riggle Summer Fellowship in the Humanities: Funding: $5,000

2007 Australian Research Council Discovery Project

Project title: “A Study of Australia’s Ability to Train Soldiers to be Ethical and Effective”

Funding: $440,000

Duration: 2007 – 2009

Role: Chief Investigator and Australian Postdoctoral Fellowship

Project Summary: Can modern soldiers be ethical and effective? This project will answer this question through a substantive analysis of ethical soldiering in light of, on the one hand, military training practices in Australian and overseas and, on the other hand, contemporary moral philosophy and just war theory. This combination of empirical research and philosophical analysis will fill a significant gap in the research in this area. Outcomes of this project include a critical assessment of traditional conceptions of the ethical soldier and positive suggestions for cultivating ethical soldiering in light of the military's changing role.

2006 Academy of the Social Sciences in Australia Workshop Grant

Project title: "Issues in the Research and Application of Chemo-Prophylactic Drugs for the Treatment of Traumatic Stress"

Funding: $4,500
