Foundations in Philosophy
Bilingual section      Fundamentos en Filosofía
Sección bilingüe

Philosophy is concerned with questions that matter across the whole of human inquiry, and inquiry has many languages. Therefore, this section of PHIL 1001 will be bilingual (in both English and Spanish).

Prerequisites: Students must have completed SPAN 3001 or placed into SPAN 3005.

La filosofía se ocupa de preguntas de importancia que abarcan la totalidad de la investigación humana, y este tipo de investigación se realiza en una gran variedad de lenguas. Por esta razón, el presente curso tendrá un formato bilingüe (en inglés y español).

Prerrequisitos: haber previamente tomado SPAN 3001 o estar inscrita/o en SPAN 3005.

* Students enrolled in Core Honors receive Honors credit for the bilingual section of PHIL 1001.

What students are saying:

"This bilingual class was my only outlet to truly express myself... It was refreshing and in a way therapeutic...."

"It made me feel like I belong more at Marquette, because I did not feel like I had to struggle as much to express myself."

"Made me feel seen, heard, and valued—not just as a student, but as a person with a unique cultural identity."

PHIL 2955H
HONORS INTRODUCTION
TO PHILOSOPHICAL DEBATE:
THE PHILOSOPHY OF AUTISM

Dr. Scarlett Fritz | Th 2pm-2:50pm

Autism spectrum infinity awareness symbol

Autism is a neurological condition that affects 1 in 31 children and 1 in 45 adults. How should Autism be defined? Who should be allowed to diagnose Autism? What implications does Autism have on theories of personhood which rely upon conforming to certain standards and ethical theories which appeal to empathy as a moral foundation? This course examines the philosophical implications of Autism, as well the experiences of Autistic people who find unique ways of navigating the world.

Prerequisites: PHIL 1001 or PHIL 1001H; either admission to Marquette University Honors Program, cumulative GPA of 3.200 and cumulative Philosophy GPA of 3.330, or cons. of dept. Students enrolled in Core Honors who meet prerequisites can enroll themselves; all other students, follow QR code to request enrollment.

Luisa Capetillo, 1915

PHIL 3955H
HONORS READINGS IN PHILOSOPHY:
LUISA CAPETILLO,
A NATION OF WOMEN

Dr. Stephanie Rivera Berruz | M 1pm-1:50pm

Luisa Capetillo (1875-1922) was a Puerto Rican anarcho-feminist writer. A woman well ahead of her time, she was an ardent activist, a traveler, a reader in cigar factories, and a prolific writer. Her works critically engage the topics of marriage, love, religion, colonialism, imperialism, and economic dispossession. Through a close reading of A Nation of Women: An Early Feminist Speaks Out we will analyze how Capetillo's system of thought hangs together and the ways her challenges to the political order of her times are still relevant today.

Prerequisites: PHIL 1001 or PHIL 1001H; either admission to Marquette University Honors Program, cumulative GPA of 3.200 and Philosophy GPA of 3.330, or cons. of dept. Students enrolled in Core Honors who meet prerequisites can enroll themselves; all other students, follow QR code to request enrollment.
