Who: Tim's Camp will support adolescents and young adults (ages 11 through 21+) with Down syndrome as they move toward independence through vocational and social accomplishments. The camp will provide specialized speech-language therapy to promote functional communication and related skills as well as opportunities to apply them in real-life settings. Each camp will run for three weeks, four times a week, for three hours each day (9:00-12:00). Each week two of the sessions will be comprised of individual/small group speech and language therapy, group instruction, guided practice of skills and home practice activities. Two additional sessions per week will be comprised of brief individual/small group speech and language therapy, group review of targeted skills and group outings.

(Transportation to and from the clinic will be provided free of charge if Milwaukee Resident.)
