The message—be successful

the student
Use the preferred forms defined in this style guide to create clean, professional and consistent publications campuswide. Keep in mind that these are the university’s standard rules for copywriting. Some exceptions are made for advertisements, tabulated material and other special promotional pieces. Please contact Sarah Painter Koziol at 414.288.4744 with questions.

acronyms
On first reference, use the official name of companies, associations, organizations, etc. For subsequent references, an abbreviation or acronym may be used if the meaning is clear to the reader. It is our style to avoid using an acronym in parentheses after the full name. But if such clarification is necessary, especially for unfamiliar external audiences, an acronym in parentheses is allowable. Use periods (but no space) in a reference like “the U.S. government” because the adjectives without periods could be read as “us.”

Periods also are used for the indication of a religious order included as part of a person's name. For instance, retain the periods (but no space) and use a comma when writing a priest’s name: “Rev. Thomas Krettek, S.J., is vice president for mission and ministry.” An exception is made for religious sisters, who prefer the rendering of their orders without periods. The initials for the order should be set off with commas. (See religious orders entry for additional guidance.) Certain other common terms also are exceptions, including: A.D. and B.C. for calendar year references; a.m. and p.m. for designations of time; M.D. for physicians; Ph.D. (see academic degrees); U.N. for United Nations; and U.S. for United States when used as an adjective.

Correct:
The Association of Marquette University Women will host a dinner January 21. For tickets or information about the AMUW, call Sally Jones at 555.1919.

Incorrect:
A.M.U.W.

Incorrect:
A M U W

Also see college abbreviations for guidelines about abbreviations for references to alumni of Marquette colleges and academic programs.

academic degrees
Consult the Office of the Registrar for the official reference to a degree earned by a Marquette graduate or for a list of degrees conferred in a specific field (i.e., Bachelor of Science, Bachelor of Science in nursing, Honors Bachelor of Science, Bachelor of Arts).

As an institute of higher learning, we emphasize use of the title “Dr.” for those who have earned their doctorate (including D.P.T. and O.D.T.). For people who have a medical or dental degree, use M.D. or D.D.S., respectively, after their name instead of using “Dr.” before their name. Do not use “Dr.” and “Ph.D.” in the same reference. Similarly, do not use “Dr.” and “M.D.” in the same reference. Note the use of apostrophes in “bachelor’s” and “master’s.” Note the capitalization and placement of periods in Ph.D., M.A. and M.F.A. MBA follows AP style and uses no periods.

Exceptions to period use in degrees are allowed for web copy.

A two-year degree is an associate degree (no “s” on associate).

Correct:
He earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in journalism. He earned his bachelor’s from Marquette. She is studying for a master’s degree. She earned her doctoral degree (or doctorate) in 1990. Dr. John Doe is a noted author of Shakespearean criticism. John Smith, M.D., is my physician. John Smith, D.D.S., is my dentist.

accept/except
Do not confuse these terms. To accept is to take in, receive or agree to. To except is to exclude or omit.

acknowledgment
Preferred spelling
Ad majorem Dei gloriam

Note the capitalization. The Latin phrase was the motto of St. Ignatius of Loyola and means “for the greater glory of God.” In text, it should be set in italics as a non-English phrase.

alma mater

Do not capitalize as a reference to the school from which one graduated. The name of the Marquette song is Hail Alma Mater, in which the words are capitalized as a title.

Correct:
Marquette is her alma mater.

Hail Alma Mater is sung at the close of Marquette’s Commencement ceremony.

alumni/-nus/-na/-nae

Use the following guide for correct usage of the Latin terms:

- alumni — two or more male graduates and/or two or more graduates of both genders
- alumnus — one male graduate
- alumna — one female graduate
- alumnae — two or more female graduates

alumni association

The Marquette University Alumni Association was established in 1893 and represents more than 114,000 living alumni, parents and friends of the university worldwide. On first reference, use Marquette University Alumni Association. In subsequent references, use “the association” (note lower-case) or MUAA.

although/though/while

a.m., p.m.

Always lowercase, and always use periods. For a range of time, the a.m. or p.m. designation with both times is preferred. Use the word “to” as the connector, not a dash. When designating a time on the hour, the :00 is not necessary. (See invitation protocol for appropriate time usage for invitations.) Use midnight or noon, never 12 midnight or 12 noon. Also see dates in a series.

Exceptions may be made for tabulated material or invitations.

Correct:
3:15 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Incorrect:
3:15 to 9 p.m.; 3:15-9:00 p.m.; 3:15 PM
ampersand/and Use an ampersand (&) to replace the word “and” only if it is part of the official legal name of a company, organization or publication. U.S. News & World Report is an example. (Graphically driven content can be the exception to this rule.)

Many courses in Marquette’s Core of Curriculum are offered through the Helen Way Klingler College of Arts and Sciences.

apostrophe
Use an apostrophe to show possession or a contraction of two terms into one. Apostrophes are not used to make a plural. University style is to use smart quotation marks and apostrophes.

Also see contractions and decades.

Correct:
Hundreds of people attended the ceremony. Tacos are my favorite food. Marquette IDs must be shown at the door. I grew up in the ’60s.

Incorrect:
Hundred’s of people attended the ceremony. Taco’s are my favorite food. Marquette ID’s must be shown at the door. I grew up in the ’60’s.

AHPRC
Spell out Athletic and Human Performance Research Center on first reference. AHPRC is acceptable on subsequent references.

archbishop/bishop/cardinal/pope
The preferred form for first reference is Cardinal, Archbishop or Bishop, capitalized, before an individual’s name. Substitute the Most Rev. if applicable: He spoke to the Most Rev. Jerome E. Listecki, archbishop of Milwaukee. On second reference, Listecki or the archbishop is appropriate. If known only by a religious name, repeat the title: Pope Francis on first reference and Francis, the pope or the pontiff, lowercase, on second. (Refer to the Archdiocese of Milwaukee style guide when necessary.)

as
Do not use “as” to substitute for “because” or “since.” This misuse can be misleading and is awkward.

Correct:
Because he was leaving, we hosted a party.

Incorrect:
As he was leaving, we hosted a party. (This misuse of “as” to mean “because” implies that the party was held during the time he was leaving, not because he was leaving.)

ASMU
If it is necessary to make a historical reference specifically to the pre-1996 student government, use “Associated Students of Marquette University” on first reference and “ASMU” on subsequent references. To refer to the post-1996 student government, use “Marquette University Student Government” on first reference and “MUSG” on subsequent references.

athletics
Always with “s” (athletics, not athletic) when referring to the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics. The use of MU in text is limited to use by the Department of Athletics. (See MU, MU monogram.)

awards
If the term “award” is an integral part of the title, it should be capitalized. If not, it should be lowercase.

Correct:
The Faculty Awards for Teaching Excellence will be presented at the Père Marquette dinner. During the annual luncheon meeting, the Outstanding Researcher of the Year award was presented to John Doe. (Faculty Award for Teaching Excellence is the name of the award. Outstanding Researcher of the Year is the name of the award. In the latter, “award” is a descriptor, not a proper noun, and is not capitalized.)

bachelor/bachelor’s, master/master’s degree
Use an apostrophe in bachelor’s degree or master’s degree, etc. There is no possessive in Bachelor of Arts or Master of Science. Also: a doctoral degree or a doctorate.

backward
Never with an “s” at the end

Be The Difference
Note capitalization.

because/since
Use because to denote a specific cause-effect relationship: He went because he was told. Use since to denote a time from then until now: He graduated in 2000 and has been employed since.
believe/feel/think
Good writing should use these terms accurately, not interchangeably. Many writers use “believe” when they mean think.

One believes in something. One feels emotions and physically feels an item. One thinks thoughts.

Incorrect:
He feels/believes we should vote on the plan.
Correct:
She believes in Santa. He feels sad about his grandmother’s death. He thinks we should go.

Beyond Boundaries
This is the name for Marquette’s strategic plan implemented in 2017. Note capitalization and italics (considered a written document).

Bible
Always capitalize in reference to the collected Scriptures of the Judeo-Christian tradition. Except in casual use, avoid references to other books or guides as someone’s “bible.”

Big East Conference
Note that, unlike the conference’s logo, only the first letters of each word are capitalized. In 2013 Marquette and nine other like-minded institutions officially formed a new conference, taking the old conference’s name with them. All Marquette sports teams play in the Big East Conference. Marquette first joined the conference in 2005.

bishop/archbishop/cardinal/pope
See archbishop.

Board of Trustees
Capitalize in formal references to the Marquette University Board of Trustees. On second reference, “Board of Trustees” or the Board is acceptable, when referring to Marquette. Other company and organization boards should be lowercase.

Correct:
The Board of Trustees can have no fewer than 25 members. The Board can have no more than 40 members.

Book Marq/bookstore
The Book Marq, 818 N. 16th St., sells textbooks for all university courses. In text, refer to it as “the Book Marq” on first reference. “The bookstore” is acceptable in subsequent references. Note: The “the” is not capitalized because it is not part of the store’s name.

The Spirit Shop, located in the Alumni Memorial Union, is the university’s gift shop, selling licensed clothing, bumper stickers, glassware and other Marquette items. (See gift shop.)

book titles
See publication titles.

building names
Use the full name of a building on first reference in external publications as an acknowledgment of the university’s generous donors. A shortened name is acceptable on second reference (i.e., David A. Straz, Jr., Hall on first reference, Straz Hall in subsequent references).

business faculty titles
The titles of Drs. Belasco, Fisher and Milovic should read as “associate professor of practice of...” with the ellipsis standing for their specialty (i.e., sales, marketing, finance).

campus master plan
Do not capitalize.

campuswide
One word with no hyphen. Also one word with no hyphens: citywide, nationwide, worldwide, etc. But use university-wide (hyphen used for reading clarity with this consonant formation). When “wide” precedes a term, such as wide-ranging, it is a compound adjective and is hyphenated.

capitalization
In general, do not capitalize a term unless it is a proper noun. Do not capitalize general references to people or entities that, in specific references, might be capitalized. For instance, Marquette University is capitalized in its full form. However, university is not capitalized in any usage when it stands alone. Similarly, college, department, program, etc., are not capitalized unless they are used in their full form. Capitalize the major words of full titles for publications, businesses, etc. Do not capitalize “a,” “an,” “and,” “the,” “of” or “with” in titles unless they are the first word of the title. (See publication titles.)

Correct:
Marquette University was founded in 1881. The university values its history. He teaches in the Department of Theology. The department has many faculty members.

Capitalize job titles that immediately precede a person’s name. Do not capitalize job titles if the title follows the person’s name or is adapted from the title.
Correct:
Karen Johnson, vice president, will speak at the meeting. Vice President Karen Johnson will speak at the meeting. The office’s vice president, Karen Johnson, will speak. (Vice president is Karen Johnson’s title, but it is not used as a direct title in this case. Instead, it is used as an appositive — an explanatory phrase or introduction for the name — and is not capitalized.)

In most cases, it is preferable to use sentence constructions that allow lowercase titles because these are easier to read. A series of capitalized words — a person’s title and a proper name — look awkward in printed material and are difficult to read. For additional guidance, see titles (job).

capitalization (of words after hyphens)
In headlines, names of events and similar instances, lowercase the word that follows a hyphen in a compound adjective, unless that word is a proper noun.
Correct:
First-year Student Convocation

cardinal/archbishop/bishop/pope
See archbishop.

catalog
Not catalogue

Center for Data, Ethics, and Society
Note exception to use of serial comma.

Central Mall
This green space south of Raynor Memorial Libraries is used for campus events. On second reference, it is acceptable to use “mall.”

chapels
See Chapel of the Holy Family and St. Joan of Arc Chapel.

Chapel of the Holy Family
Always use the full name on first reference, noting the use of “the” before the name. In subsequent references, “the chapel” is acceptable and does not need to be capitalized. Derivative forms of the name, such as Holy Family Chapel, are not acceptable in any usage.
Correct:
Mass will be celebrated at 10 p.m. in the Chapel of the Holy Family. The chapel is open for private prayer and reflection throughout the day.

CheckMarq
The gateway to student information at the university is one word.

Church of the Gesu
The proper name is Church of the Gesu, not Gesu Church. Use this name when referring to the church in general. Use Gesu Parish when referring to the entity that sponsors campus events. The parish is not part of Marquette, although the university and parish maintain a close working relationship and ministry.
Correct:
The wedding will be held in Church of the Gesu.
Incorrect:
She will be baptized in Gesu Church.

City of Milwaukee, State of Wisconsin
Use only if referring to a government entity. Otherwise usage of “city” and “state” before a city and state is redundant.

Class of 2023
Note capitalization in specific references like this. Do not capitalize “class” when plural (classes of 2022 and 2023) nor when used in general.

college abbreviations
The following should be used with the name of an alumnus or alumna to identify the college from which he or she earned a degree. (Do not use these abbreviations unless preceded by a person’s name.) For colleges and programs that merged, closed or changed names, the years indicated in parentheses are the years of graduation to which the abbreviation applies. Note the absence of periods in these abbreviations. See decades for additional guidelines.

commas in a series

Use commas to separate terms in a series. Do not use a comma before a coordinating conjunction (and, or, but) linking a series of terms, unless it is necessary for clarity (exception: Law School uses serial commas). Put a comma before the concluding conjunction in a series, however, if an integral element of the series requires a conjunction. For a series of compound terms, use semicolons.

Correct:
The meeting included students who are majoring in biology, chemistry and physics. The meeting included students who are majoring in communication studies, criminology and law studies, and theology. (Use the comma before “and” to clarify that criminology and law studies is one major, not two.) The speakers include Tom Johnson, history professor; Jane Jones, chemistry professor; and Tina Abrams, accounting professor.

Commencement

Always capitalize. Do not use “graduation.” Commencement is celebrated in May. Marquette no longer celebrates Mid-year Commencement. The last time that event was celebrated was December 2013.

committee titles

When using the full proper name of a committee, capitalize all words except prepositions and articles. When using an adapted name, or referring to a committee in general, do not capitalize.

Correct:
The University Staff Assembly will meet at 3 p.m. The assembly includes 15 officers.

The Commons

Capitalize “The” in all references to this residence hall.
company names
Do not use all capital letters in text to spell a company name unless the letters are pronounced individually as part of the name (i.e., AT&T, BMW, USA Today, but Ikea). Do not use a comma before “Inc.” or “Ltd.” as part of a company name. Abbreviate Company as Co. and Corporation as Corp. (but not in the middle of the name). Spell out, but do not capitalize, subsequent uses of “company” that do not include the full name. (See corporation.)

Correct:
The American Life Insurance Co. has projected record sales for the year. The United Company of Texas has a generous employee benefits package. The company offers its employees full medical and dental coverage, as well as free on-site day care.

compose/comprise/constitute Proper usage of these terms can be confusing. Use “comprise” as you would “include.” Use “constitute” and “compose” as you would “make up” or “consists of.” Do not use “comprised of:”

Correct:
The Board of Trustees comprises 33 members, including Jesuits, alumni and business leaders. (The board includes 33 members … )
The board is composed of Jesuits, alumni and business leaders. The president and vice presidents constitute the administrative committee. The whole comprises the parts.

Incorrect:
Alumni, Jesuits and business leaders comprise the Board of Trustees.

corporation
Abbreviate as Corp. when a company or government agency uses “Corporation” at the end of its name. Spell out, lowercase, when used without the company name. If “Corporation” appears elsewhere in the official company name, spell it out and capitalize. Do not precede “Corp.” or “Inc.” with a comma.

Correct:
A representative from the Better Breads Corp. will speak at the career fair. The corporation has been in business for 20 years. The Corporation for Improved Bread Baking will discuss regulations. Representatives from Best Breads Inc. also will attend the meeting.

course work
Two words in all uses.

credentials
Do not use periods in abbreviations of licensed credentials, such as RN (registered nurse) and PE (professional engineer), following a person’s name. Use periods in degrees used as credentials. (See academic degrees.)

Cullinan, Dr. William E.

cura personalis
The Latin phrase refers to treating people with respect for their unique qualities, gifts and challenges as individuals. Do not use variant translations. The phrase is not capitalized but should be set in italics in text as a non-English phrase.

currently Use this term sparingly and only if its omission would be confusing. It is rarely necessary if a sentence is in the present tense. Try deleting the term and reread the text. If it remains clear, do not use currently.

cybersecurity
One word, unless referring to the Center for Cyber Security Awareness and Cyber Defense.

dashes
Use en-dashes (–) for dates and for some university names that have various branches (University of Wisconsin–Madison). Use em-dashes (—) to denote an abrupt change in thought in a sentence or an emphatic pause: Through her long reign, the queen and her family have adapted — usually skillfully — to the changing taste of the time. But avoid overuse of dashes to set off phrases when commas would suffice.
dates in a series
In text, to specify the starting and ending date of an event, use the format: month date to month date or drop the second reference to the month if it is the same as the start date. Other exceptions may be made to meet the needs of a specific publication, such as an advertisement or invitation.

Do not use ordinals (1st, 2nd, 20th) with dates.
For clarity, especially in weekly publications or event fliers, it may be helpful to specify days of the week. Do not abbreviate days of the week. Months should be abbreviated as specified in months.
Correct:
April 28 to April 30; April 28–30
April 28 to May 2
Monday, April 28, to Wednesday, April 30 days of the week

Never abbreviate.

Deans Council
No possessive.

deans (endowed)
The College of Business Administration deanship is endowed and should be referred to as the James H. Keyes Dean of Business Administration.
The Opus College of Engineering deanship is also endowed and should be referred to as the Opus Dean of the Opus College of Engineering.

decades
References to decades do not take an apostrophe to form the plural. If the reference to the century is omitted, the apostrophe should curl toward the left, not the right. (Tip: The bottom part of the apostrophe’s curl should point toward what is missing.)
Correct:
In the 1950s, many girls wore poodle skirts.
In the ‘50s, many girls wore poodle skirts.
Incorrect:
In the 1950’s, many girls wore poodle skirts.
In the 50’s, many girls wore poodle skirts.

degrees
See academic degrees.
For temperatures, use digits and the word “degrees,” not the degree symbol. Temperatures are assumed to be Fahrenheit except in scientific material or materials for a non-U.S. audience. Specify if they are not Fahrenheit.
Correct:
The temperature may drop as low as 10 degrees tonight.
Keep the liquid at 15 degrees Celsius.

department names (university)
Capitalize the name of a Marquette department or office only (not other universities’ departments). “Department of History” or “History Department” styles are acceptable on first and subsequent references. In references to multiple departments or offices, lowercase “department” or “office,” but capitalize the unit names. See titles (job) for distinctions between job titles and department or office names.
Correct:
The memo was approved by the offices of General Counsel and Public Affairs. The departments of Physics and History will present the course. The professor will present to the Department of History. The History Department has many professors.

disabled/handicapped
Do not use references to a person’s physical capacity unless it is relevant to the subject matter. If it is necessary, try to use terms that put the “person” first, i.e., “Gary, who uses a wheelchair, was a key member of the group discussing building access.”

dissertation titles
Should be in quotations. See publication titles for more title references.

doctor/doctoral/doctorate
Consult the Office of the Registrar for the official reference to a degree earned by a Marquette graduate.
The preferred prefix for a person holding a doctoral degree is Dr., but do not use “Dr.” and “Ph.D.” in the same reference. Similarly, do not use “Dr.” and “M.D.” in the same reference. Note the capitalization and placement of periods in “Ph.D.”
Correct:
She earned her doctoral degree in 1990. He will have a doctorate in theology as soon as he defends his dissertation. Dr. John Doe is a noted author of Shakespearean criticism. John Smith, M.D., is my physician. Dr. Smith is an endocrinologist.

dorms
Do not use the term dorm or dormitory to refer to Marquette’s residence halls. Use residence hall on first reference. Hall is acceptable on second.

effect/affect/impact
See affect/effect/impact.

ellipsis ( ... )
When using an ellipse to indicate omitted material, type three periods and include a space before the first period and after the last period. Do not include spaces between the periods. If the words that precede an ellipse constitute a grammatically complete sentence, either in the original or in the condensation, place a period at the end of the last word before the ellipse. Follow it with a regular space and an ellipse: I no longer have a strong enough political base. ...

Correct:
Once upon a time ... and far away.

Incorrect:
Once upon a time...and far away. Once upon a time . . . and far away.

email
May be used as a noun or verb. Do not capitalize. When writing out university email addresses, use all lowercase letters.

Correct:
laura.smith@marquette.edu

Incorrect:
Laura.Smith@Marquette.edu

eMarq
The university email system

emeritus/-ti/-ta/-tae
The title of “emeritus” is not synonymous with “retired.” It is an honor bestowed on a small number of retired faculty or Board of Trustee members. It should be included in references to the person’s title and AFTER a person’s title.

Emeritus is singular male; emerita is singular female; emeriti is plural male or plural male and female; emeritae is plural female.

Correct:

See disabled/handicapped.

hyphens
Hyphenate compound adjectives only when needed for clarity. A guide to determining if a term is an adverb, adjective or compound adjective: Adverbs (most words ending in -ly) describe verbs, adjectives and other adverbs by explaining the time, place, manner or degree (a highly regarded institution, an especially trying time, a much more difficult situation). Adjectives describe nouns. Compound adjectives work as a unit to describe a noun. An easy check to determine if adjectives should be hyphenated or separated by commas is to ask if both adjectives could stand alone in modifying the noun. The expression “part-time studies” has a hyphenated adjective because it would not be clear to say “part studies” or “time studies.” The phrase “a new, purple car” requires a comma because “new” or “purple” could be used alone to modify “car.” A phrase such as “the highly competitive program” is not hyphenated because “highly” is an adverb and “competitive” is an adjective. (“Highly” is modifying “competitive,” which is modifying “program.”)

if/whether
The term “whether” implies a choice. “Whether or not” is redundant and should be avoided. It’s more succinct to use “if.”
Correct:
He is debating whether to go home for the holidays. He is debating if he should go home for the holidays.
Incorrect:
He is debating whether or not he should go home for the holidays.

Ignatian
Note the correct spelling, not “Ignation.”

Wells St. Do not use “parking garage” or capitalize “structure” when used without its full name.

Correct:

pope/archbishop/bishop/cardinal
See archbishop.

president
The term president is not capitalized unless it immediately precedes a person’s name as a formal title. Never abbreviate president, and do not include a president’s academic title when referencing his or her title as president of the university. On second reference, Marquette’s president can be referred to as President Lovell. This also refers to deans and provosts.
Correct:
The president of Marquette University is Dr. Michael R.
Lovell. Marquette University President Michael R. Lovell addressed the group. He was named president of the university. The president of the university spoke.
Incorrect:

Lovell will speak. President Dr. Michael R. Lovell will speak.
College of Education Dean Dr. Heidi Bostic spoke to the group.

programs
Capitalize the name of a program when the word “program” follows. Only capitalize “program” if it’s officially part of the name.
Correct:

publication titles
Titles of publications should be set in italics, not underlined or in quotes. This is different from AP style. This includes books, films, magazines, journals, podcasts, movies, newspa-papers, plays, songs, speeches, television programs, computer/video games and works of art. Portions of publications are set in quotes as are chapters of books, titles of articles, titles of comic strips, television episodes, podcast episodes, etc. Exceptions are the Bible and books that are primarily catalogs of reference materials, including almanacs, directories, dictionaries, encyclopedias, handbooks and similar publications.
Correct:
Many students watch 60 Minutes on Sunday evening. The university magazine, Marquette Magazine, is published three times a year. Read the second chapter, ”Nonverbal Communication Development Among Children,” for guidance on your paper. He memorized many portions of Act I of Hamlet.

quotations (punctuation in) Commas and periods always go inside (to the left of) the close quotation mark. Question marks and exclamation points that are part of the quoted material also go inside the close quotation mark. Semicolons always go outside the close quotation mark, as do question marks or exclamation points that are not part of the quoted material. Capitalize quoted material that is a full sentence, even if it is in the middle of another sentence.
Correct:
“Thank you for your time,” he said. He said, “Thank you for your time.” “When should we leave for the party?” he asked. (It is not necessary to use a comma to separate the quote from the attribution.) Who said “All’s well that ends well”? (The quoted material is not a question.) He said the information would be “considered carefully before a decision is reached.” (Quoted material is not capitalized because it is not a full sentence.)
Ratio Studiorum

This Latin term literally translates to “plan of studies.” It is a handbook for Jesuit schools, first produced in the late 16th century and continuously adapted. Note capitalization and italics.

Raynor Memorial Libraries/Raynor Library

religious orders

Male members of a religious community use the abbreviations of the community after their names, separated by periods. Religious sisters do not attach periods to the initials of their order but use commas on both sides of the initials. (See Father, Rev. and Society of Jesus.)

residence hall

On-campus buildings in which students reside are called residence halls, not dormitories or dorms.

Rev.

This description is used on first reference before an ordained individual's name. If a priest belongs to a religious order, use the initials of the order after his name, separated by periods. If a Jesuit has not yet been ordained, do not use Rev., but include S.J. after his name. Do not abbreviate as Fr. Use Father Lastname in subsequent references. (See Father and Society of Jesus.)

 Correct:

 Rev. Robert A. Wild, S.J., was president of Marquette for more than 15 years. Father Wild attended many basketball games.

room numbers

All locations in a building should be identified by a room or suite number. In internal publications, it is acceptable to use a shortened form of the building name followed by the room number. In external publications, use the building name followed by a comma, the word “room” and room number in figures.

Correct for internal publications:
The group will meet in AMU, 236.

Correct for external publications:
The group will meet in the Alumni Memorial Union, Room 236.

S.J.

Use only after the full name of a Jesuit priest. Note the periods. (See Society of Jesus.) Also, note that there is always a comma before the S.J., and after, in a sentence.

Correct:
Rev. Robert A. Wild, S.J., was president of Marquette for more than 15 years.

saint

Always capitalize and abbreviate “saint” as part of a name, including city names unless they city itself spells it out. As a general term, “saint” is not capitalized and should be spelled out.

Correct:
St. Ignatius founded the Society of Jesus. The St. Louis Jesuits are known for their liturgical music. Saint Louis University is a Jesuit institution.

707 Hub

Spelled as above on first reference. When “hub” is used alone in subsequent references, it should be lowercase.

Sister

Do not abbreviate. Capitalize and use as a title before the woman's name in all references to Catholic sisters and nuns. On first reference, use the initials of the religious order after the woman's first and last names. Do not attach periods to the initials of the religious order, but use commas on both sides of the initials of the order. On subsequent references, use the title “Sister,” but follow the woman's preference in using her first or last name after the title. “Sr.” is not an acceptable abbreviation for “Sister.”

Correct:
Sister Mary Jones, SSJ, was my first-grade teacher. Sister Jones was a kind woman.

Snapchat

Society of Jesus

The formal name of the Jesuits, founded in the 16th century by St. Ignatius of Loyola (See Father, Rev. and S.J.)

speeches

See publication titles.

Spiritual Exercises

Italicize all references. Uses a singular verb.
startup
As both a noun and adjective

St. Joan of Arc Chapel
On first reference, always use the full name of the chapel. In subsequent references, “the chapel” is acceptable and does not need to be capitalized. Derivative forms of the name, such as Chapel of St. Joan of Arc, are not acceptable in any usage. An accepted description for the chapel is available at marquette.edu/chapel.

students
In Advancement materials, students will be referred to as students from his/her college, not as future graduates.

Correct:
Arts and Sciences student; Business student; Communication student; Dental student; Education student; Engineering student; graduate student; Health Sciences student; Law student; Nursing student

Incorrect:
Anna Robinson, Arts ‘24

state abbreviations

telephone numbers
For external print pieces, use periods to separate the numbers. For web copy — because smart phone users can use the click-to-dial feature — use parentheses to set off an area code from the phone number, with one space between the close parentheses and the start of the phone number. (These rules also apply to toll-free 800 or 888 numbers.) For internal print pieces, it is acceptable to abbreviate a number as 8.1212.

Correct for external print publications:
For information, call 414.288.1212.

Correct for web copy:
For information, call (800) 555-1212.

that/which
Use “that” for essential clauses and without commas. Use “which” for nonessential clauses and with commas. If you can drop the clause and not lose the meaning of the sentence, use “which.” Otherwise, use “that.”

Correct:
I remember the day that Eckstein Hall opened. The building, which opened a year ago, has had hundreds of visitors.

Incorrect:
It is the only building which is open Sunday.

theatre
All references should be spelled “theatre” in Marquette publications. The correct building names on Marquette’s campus are: the Evan P. and Marion Helfaer Theatre, the Varsity Theatre, and the Tony and Lucille Weasler Auditorium. Most major Milwaukee-area performing arts venues also follow this spelling (only the Milwaukee Repertory Theater uses the “er” ending).

title/feel/believe
See believe/feel/think.

though/although/while
Although/though means in spite of the fact. Although/though she is the youngest in her class, she is the smartest. While denotes a time element. He got sick while on vacation.

TikTok

See a.m., p.m., noon and midnight.

titles (job)
Capitalize job titles that immediately precede a person’s name. Do not capitalize job titles if the title follows the person’s name (preferred) or is adapted from the proper title. Note that some job titles include a term that also is part of the office or department name but that those terms are not capitalized as part of the job title. This retains consistency between titles that relate to the department name and those that do not.

In most cases, it is preferable to use sentence constructions that allow lowercase titles because these are easier to read. A series of capitalized words — the person’s title, then proper name — look awkward in printed material and are difficult to read.

Correct:
Paul Jones, vice president for university relations, will speak at the meeting. Vice President for University Relations Paul Jones will speak at the meeting. Karen Parr is the university’s creative director and works in the Office of University Relations, which is headed by Paul Jones, vice president for university relations.

The university’s president, Dr. Michael R. Lovell, welcomed students. (President is Dr. Lovell’s title, but it is not used as a direct title in this case. Instead, it is used as an appositive — an explanatory phrase or introduction for the name — and is not capitalized.) President Michael R. Lovell was expected to attend. (See capitalization, department names (university), publication titles and religious orders.)

Do not capitalize university except in use of the full name of the institution.

Correct:

Note the use of the hyphen. Ordinarily, terms using “-wide” are not hyphenated, but the hyphen in this case is added for ease of reading.

U.S. News & World Report
Note use of “&” and italics.

vice president
Vice president is not capitalized except as a title immediately preceding someone’s name.

Correct:
Vice President Paul Jones will speak at the meeting. Paul Jones, vice president for the Office of University Relations, will attend. (See titles (job) and capitalization.)

List college on separate line

Examples:
Dr. Sally Jones
College of Business Administration

OR

Dr. Sally Jones
Dean of the College of Business Administration

Use prefix or suffix, but never both.

Example:
Dr. Sally Jones
Sally Jones, Ph.D. (Never Dr. Sally Jones, Ph.D.)

Alumni
If anyone named in an invitation is an alumnus/a of Marquette, please indicate so:

Example:
John Smith, Arts ’04

When no particular person is doing the inviting: “You are invited” or “You are cordially invited”

However, it is preferred that an inanimate object not do the inviting, i.e. The Opus College of Engineering.

Whenever possible, indicate the person(s) doing the inviting. However, the Marquette Alumni Association has chapters and clubs, and uses the language, “The Marquette Club of Chicago.” The word “alumni” is understood, therefore it is perfectly acceptable for invitations from those entities to read:

The Marquette Club of (city) invites you ...

The Helen Way Klingler College of Arts and Sciences Alumni Association invites you ...

Inviting:

The invite “Name of person” invites you to ...

“Requests the pleasure of your presence” and “requests the honor of your presence” are not acceptable on university invitations.

The event
Be sure it fits the purpose of the gathering.

Example:
You are invited to join us for the Fifth Annual Awards Dinner

You are invited to attend a retirement party for Sally Jones

NOTE: It is never appropriate to have a “first annual.”

The event information is always listed as:
Date, time, place:

Example:
Friday, December 2, 2022
6:00 p.m.
Varsity Theatre
1324 West Wisconsin Avenue
Milwaukee, Wisconsin
The date
Include the day of the week spelled out.
Include the month spelled out.
Include the date and year. Do not use ordinals (th, nd, rd) after a date.

Example:
Friday, December 2, 2022

If the year is included in the title of the event, the information should appear as:

Example:
The 2023 Peterson Scholarship Award Luncheon
Sunday, June 19

The time
Starting time is required.
Ending time is optional and not included unless for significant purpose, i.e., a business lunch that indicates the event will end at a given time, not consuming an entire afternoon.

Use minutes when listing time, and lowercase and use periods with a.m. and p.m. List a.m. or p.m. directly after each numeral.

Example:
6:00 p.m.
not 6 p.m. (noting difference from standard university style, which is based on Associated Press style)

6:00 p.m. – 8:00 p.m.

The place
Use the building name.
Use the street address when appropriate.
Use “on the campus of Marquette University,” if appropriate.
Use the donor name for all named rooms.
Indicate the floor location with each word capitalized.

Example:
Alumni Memorial Union
Monaghan Ballroom
Third Floor

Alumni Memorial Union
1442 West Wisconsin Avenue
on the campus of Marquette University

Street address:
Spell out north, south, east and west.
Spell out the street name.
Spell out avenue, street, etc.
Use city and state when necessary. Spell out both. Do not use a ZIP code in the body of an invitation.

Incidental information:
This should be set off from the rest of the invitation and implied as less significant.

Example:
Dress information

Response information:
Use a month and date. The day is optional.
List the name or department with a phone number, including area code. The most common response language includes a phone number and email address.

Example:
Please respond by March 17 to Sally Jones at 414.288.0000.

Please respond by Tuesday, March 17, to Sally Jones at 414.288.0000.

Please respond by Tuesday, March 17, to universityspecialevents@marquette.edu or 414.288.7431.

If a response card is enclosed, the response language does not have to be mentioned on the invitation but can be if space allows.

The language “questions or special needs” must be included. This is in compliance with the Americans with Disabilities Act. It covers inquiries for people with disabilities or special dietary needs.

Example:
For questions or special needs, please call 414.288.0000.
Parking information:

If an event price includes a contribution, it must include IRS language.

Example:
Each dinner reservation, less (x amount) per person, is deductible to the full extent allowed by law.

Return address:

When the president does the inviting:

Example:
Office of the President
Marquette University
P.O. Box 1881
Milwaukee, WI  53201-1881

It is not our style to write out “Post Office Box.”
P.O. Box 1881 is correct.
