

CALL FOR PROPOSALS

DUE: 1/20/2023

INSTITUTE FOR WOMEN'S LEADERSHIP'S 1ST ANNUAL RESEARCH CONFERENCE: "COURAGEOUS COLLABORATIONS"

The Institute for Women's Leadership invites scholars at all career stages and from all disciplines whose research centers on women and/or gender to submit their work to the First Inaugural IWL Research Conference. This year's theme is "Courageous Collaborations." The conference aims to:

- Bring together a diverse, collaborative community of undergraduate and graduate students and faculty at all stages of their careers around a shared interest in women and/or gender
- Facilitate cross-disciplinary connections and dialogue about women and gender
- Provide a forum to discuss the challenges women and gender non-conforming people face as leaders in the crisis in higher education and to identify key opportunities, open questions, and potential resources and solutions
- Develop a multidisciplinary community for research related to women and gender, including...
  - Evidence-based research that helps us better understand gender equity in higher education
  - Research addressing social, political, and economic injustice in an intersectional framework
  - Research that questions gendered assumptions, binaries, and exclusions to arrive at new analytical insights
  - Community-engaged, gender-focused research that aims to improve lives

To foster inclusive dialogue, we seek proposals for:

- "Works in progress" workshops where participants will have the opportunity to get feedback on work at any stage, from early research memos to funding proposals to full draft papers
- Poster presentations that allow participants to present their gender research to a broad, interdisciplinary audience
- Participation on a panel on collaborative research and co-authorship as part of IWL's Women Who Write Series

Please include in your proposal the following:

1. Your name, career stage, department, e-mail address
2. Your preference for participation
  - a. Works in progress
    - i. What stage is the research you hope to present in?
    - ii. What specific type of feedback would be most useful?
  - b. Poster presentation
    - i. What if any resources do you need to design and print your poster?
  - c. Panel on collaborative research and co-authorship
    - i. What collaborative research have you done? What project would you like to discuss?
3. Description/abstract of your project (150-200 words) and 5 keywords

Send this proposal in PDF format with e-mail message subject line: "Courageous Collaboration Research Workshop" to iwl@marquette.edu before midnight on January 20, 2023.

The conference will be held at Marquette's Athletic and Human Performance Research Center on Saturday, March 25, 2023, 9 AM–5 PM.
