FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Ott Memorial Writing Center
Center for Teaching and Learning
Spring 2019

Milwaukee, WI. Back by popular demand, the Ott Memorial Writing Center and the Center for Teaching and Learning will be holding Ott Office Hours on Monday mornings throughout the remainder of the spring semester.

Ott Office Hours are a chance to chat with Ott staff about everything from writing assignments to writing assessment in current and future courses. Marquette faculty, staff, and graduate teaching assistants are welcome to sign up for a 30-minute appointment between 8am and 10am on Monday, April 15th and Monday, April 29th <https://tinyurl.com/OOH-02280304>. Colleagues are also invited use the online form to propose alternative meeting times to talk with us about any aspect of teaching (with) writing:

- Evaluating midterm writing assignments;
- Designing or redesigning upcoming writing assignments;
- Introducing students to new types of writing;
- Increasing students' engagement in writing;
- Rethinking peer review activities;
- Encouraging students to revise their writing;
- Reflecting on reflective writing;
- Using writing to enrich class discussions, class dynamics, and students' learning;
- Responding more efficiently and effectively to students' writing;
- Preparing for finals;
- Rethinking writing in future courses;
- Incorporating new media writing into a course;
- Integrating reading and/or research into writing assignments;
- Trying new approaches to teaching writing;
- Trying new approaches to assessing writing (i.e., rubrics, grading contracts);
- Identifying and articulating your teaching philosophy;
- Creating and updating your teaching portfolio;
- Writing and publishing about teaching;
- Making the most of writing center and CTL resources;
- Etc.

If you have questions, please email us at writingcenter@marquette.edu with "Ott Office Hours" in the subject line. We look forward to talking with you.