

Corporate Venturing: Old Money for New Things

*Michael Mojica,
Partner,
Accenture's North America Retail Practice*

Mike Mojica is a Partner in Accenture's North America Retail Practice based in Chicago, IL. He has over 18 years of experience in IT strategy, large-scale systems integration and outsourcing across a variety of industries. In addition, Mike works closely with industry in establishing corporate venturing programs focused on identifying, sponsoring, evaluating, and funding new startup ventures. For the past several years, Mike has worked with the Gigot Center for Entrepreneurial Studies and has served as a business plan evaluator for their annual McCloskey Business Plan Competition.

Mike is a frequent lecturer at the University of Notre Dame on matters related to strategy, technology, and outsourcing. Mike has a Bachelor of Business Administration degree with a concentration in MIS from Notre Dame.